USE OF GAS TAX URGED TO BUILD 1-WAY STREETS

Quirk Cites Traffic Toll on West Side.

BY HAL FOUST.

Ald. Robert C. Quirk [48th], chairman of a council subcommittee on one way streets, announced yesterday he will make separate appeals to the city, the county, and the state urging the assignment of gasoline tax funds to the cost of opening two one-way traffic systems from Grant park west to the city limits.

Ald. Quirk.

"The congestion and the accident toll on the west side have become so bad that something must be done promptly," Quirk said. "The morning and evening rush hour blockades have become intolerable. Superhighways cost millions and take years to complete. In comparison the cost of one way streets is trivial. They can be put in service within a few months.

Termed Curb on Accidents.

"One way streets won't take the place of superhighways, but they can perform a valuable service in reducing delays and accidents until the supers are completed. With the supers completed, the one way systems will be of value for local traffic. If tolls are to be charged on the superhighways the one way systems will be appreciated by motorists who don't want to pay the 10 cent fee."

Plans for the use of Jackson boulevard for eastbound traffic from Columbus park, on the city limits, to Eriksen drive have been gathering dust in the files of the city council since 1938. Under these plans westbound traffic would have exclusive use of Monroe street from Grant park to Garfield park and thence to Columbus park, first in Adams street and then in Quincy street.

The second system would be a continuation east and west of the present Washington-Warren combination between Garfield and Union parks. East of Union park to Michigan avenue Washington would be used by eastbound traffic and Randolph street would be used for westbound traffic. West of Garfield park Washington boulevard would be for eastbound traffic and westbound traffic would use West End avenue or Maypole avenue, or a combination of the two.

Plans Prepared by Jelinek.

The plans were prepared three years ago by Otto K. Jelinek, Chicago park district engineer, at the request of Mayor Kelly that something be devised to help west side traffic. Jelinek had suggested one way streets in 1933 as part of the transportation system for A Century of Progress. He was overruled. In 1935 the mayor advanced a one way street plan and was stopped by proponents of a Congress street superparkway scheme.

Robert J. Dunham, park district president, appeared before a council committee in 1938 and offered to undertake the one way plans if the streets would be dedicated to the park district as boulevards. The Congress street proponents objected again, altho many civic organizations indorsed the program.

Quirk said no one has refuted the contention one way streets would reduce accidents and eliminate delays, but that the park district and the city department of public works report they lack funds for the projects.

Tax Revenue Described.

"There is no reason gas tax money should not be used for the improvements," he said. "The state highway department receives about 13 million dollars a year from licenses on Chicago automobiles and its share on the tax of gasoline used in Chicago. The city gets about 5½ millions a year, and the county has about $3,300,000 in gas tax revenue."

Jelinek estimated it would cost $285,143 to place the Jackson-Monroe combination in operation, and that later refinements would cost $1,488,784. He estimated the immediate cost of the Washington-Randolph-Maypole-West End link at $1,952,156 and later refinements at $336,222.

WHITE SOX TAKE FIRST PLACE AS INDIANS LOSE 2

The White Sox took first place in the American league yesterday by beating Washington, 4 to 3, in 11 innings after losing the first game in Comiskey park, 3 to 2. Cleveland lost two games to New York and trails the Sox by a fraction of one percentage point.

COLLECTOR PUTS 99TH YEAR AWAY

Celebrates Birthday in Barrington Home.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

When a man celebrates his 99th birthday, as George M. Jackson did yesterday, you can't blame him for having hoarded a vast store of relics of the active period of his life. So his relatives say. But Jackson regards this as sentimental nonsense.

"Those things might come in handy some day!" he shouted thru his white whiskers. The enormous cake with candles tracing out the twin nines—there wasn't room for 99 candles—had just been cut, and the first of 50 callers were beginning to stream into the Barrington home of his granddaughter, Mrs. Robert Brandt.

He Never Discards a Thing.

Old Jackson, with hand cupped to ear, chuckled as his family described some of "those things" he hangs onto. There is, for instance, the Little Giant threshing machine, hand-fed and "at least 50 years old," and the broken-down steam engine which used to provide its power.

Jackson has never thrown anything away; he doesn't believe in discarding things. In careful if crowded storage at his farm five miles west of Barrington is the buggy he used in his courtin' days. Nearby is the 1910 Studebaker, his first automobile, and all the license plates it wore.

Of course, he cherishes the $800 melodeon and the patent leather, silver-studded harness—items which commanded respect for the prosperity of the Jackson farm before the turn of the century.

Items Piled Piece on Piece.

Piled piece on piece where necessary are all the items of furniture and all the books and magazines collected by his parents, by him and his wife, and by a second cousin.

"Ask him why he keeps those old millstones," a grandson suggested.

Jackson's explanation was the same as for the whole collection—they didn't do any one any harm and there might come a need for them. No one asked about his three old rifles or the Colt single action revolver he has kept under his pillow since 1869. They knew why he kept his guns.

In 1934 five young hoodlums came to the farm, demanded to know where "all that money" was, and ransacked the dresser drawers. Jackson, then 92, waited until he got a chance to reach the Colt. Then he drove them off his place.

Two years later three gypsy women tried their tricks on Jackson and his son, Harvey, 67 years old and black bearded. They refused to leave. Harvey got the revolver and there was a tussle.

"I let some shots whistle past their ears," said Harvey. "They got."

Jackson has lived on the Spring Lake farm since his parents brought him there from New York state at the age of 5 months. He was away from it for a year and a half as Barrington marshal in the '70s.

"I don't leave the farm again except in a box," he vowed.

"My health is fine so long as I don't make a fool of myself by overeating," Jackson said with a twinkle, "but I'm not promising anything."

Pope Defends Rights of Man Against Interference by State

VATICAN CITY, June 1 (AP).—Pope Pius XII. today defended the rights and duties of individuals and families against too extensive state interference in a radio broadcast that commemorated the 50th anniversary of Pope Leo XIII.'s social encyclical "Rerum Novarum."

The pontiff, speaking in Italian over the Vatican radio, upheld man's right to freedom in his "physical, spiritual, religious, and moral movements." He warned against the "error" of the belief that "the scope of man on earth is society," and declared "society is not an end in itself."

The right and duty to work is considered imposed upon man in the first instance by nature, the pope said, "not by society as if man were nothing more than a mere slave or official of the community."

It follows, he added, that "the duty and the right to organize labor belongs above all to the people immediately interested—employers and workers." Only when they fail to fulfill their functions should the state intervene, he said.

Private Property Family Basis.

The pope defended the church's right to say whether any given social system harmonized with the "unchangeable order of God" and laid down a series of moral principles to govern use of material goods, labor, and family.

He defended private property as the basis of the family, giving the father "the healthy liberty he needs to fulfill his duties as the head of a family."

National economy, the pope asserted, exists only to assure uninterrupted "material conditions in which the individual life of citizens may fully develop."

"Economic riches of a people do not properly consist in abundance of goods measured according to purely and solely material calculations of their worth," he said, "but in the fact that such abundance represents and offers a really effective material basis sufficient for proper personal development of its members."

People Need "to Share Them."

If people are not called upon to share them, the pope asserted, they are economically poor in the presence of "the lucky abundance of goods," whereas, when there is a just distribution of goods, "you will see a people, even if it disposes of less goods, making itself economically sound."

He said the state should not "abolish or render impossible" the exercise of such personal rights and duties as "the right to give God his due worship, the right to marry, the right of husband and wife or father and mother to lead a married domestic life, the right of reasonable liberty in the choice of state, of life and fulfilment of true vocation."

This last the pope called "a personal right if ever there was one" and a sublime one when resulting in the choice of "priestly and religious vocations."

Family Base of National Greatness.

He advocated the opening of "habitable regions and vital spaces now abandoned to wild natural vegetation" to immigrants.

"Thickly inhabited countries will be relieved and their peoples will acquire new friends in foreign countries, and the states which receive the immigrants will acquire industrious citizens," he said.

CENSUS BUREAU FINDS AMERICA A PRETTY SAFE PLACE TO LIVE

Washington, D. C., June 1 (AP).—The census bureau today gave out the cheering news that the United States is a pretty safe place to live, and getting safer.

The 92,623 accidental deaths in 1939, it said, represented a decline of 1.3 per cent from 1938. And the death rate from accidents was only 70.9 for each 100,000 of population, the third lowest on record. Both 1921 and 1922 had better records.

There were 30,468 fatalities in automobile accidents. Railway accidents, other than crossing mishaps, killed 3,394. Other causes and the number of deaths were:

Falls	22,878	Sunstroke	537
Drowning	5,456	Motorcycles	439
Firearms	2,582	Airplanes	396
Burns	1,794	Street cars	356
Agricultural accidents	1,604	Attacks by animals	279
Mines, quarries	1,540	Excessive cold.	190
Suffocation	1,926

Rhode Island was the safest state in the Union, with an accident death of 51.3 for each 100,000 population, while Nevada had the highest rate, 203.1.

BRITISH ADMIT NAZIS INFLICTED SEVERE LOSSES

Fighting Fiercest of Entire War.

BY SAM BREWER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CAIRO, Egypt, June 1.—British forces have given up Crete to the Germans and withdrawn to Egypt after 12 days of what was officially called the fiercest fighting of the entire war.

Fifteen thousand British troops were saved, a communique said. This was more than half the force which undertook to defend the island, a British spokesman asserted.

The British made no effort, however, to conceal the enormity of their own losses. After announcing the rescue of the 15,000, the communique declared:

"It must be admitted that our losses have been severe."

Lack of Air Support.

"Altho the losses we inflicted on the enemy's troops and aircraft have been enormous," the communique continued, "it became clear that our naval and military forces could not be expected to operate indefinitely in and near Crete without more air support than could be provided from our bases in North Africa."

By setting the duration of the battle at 12 days, the British indicated the principal withdrawal from Crete occurred yesterday. The battle started at dawn May 20.

The decision to abandon the island, which Prime Minister Churchill said would be "defended to the death," was taken Thursday afternoon, when the overwhelming German air superiority made it more than ever clear that the Nazis could land as many reenforcements as they wished.

Germans Use 1,000 Planes.

At least 1,000 German planes were thrown into the struggle, the British said, and withdrawal of the RAF on the third day because of lack of nearby bases made the outcome almost inevitable.

Today an officer freshly arrived from Crete told me of the German attack. Planes and gliders came over in such numbers it was bewildering, he said. Showers of men armed to the teeth with the most modern equipment poured from big transport planes while groups of dive bombers laid down a barrage protecting the landings.

White parachutes marked the men landing while black, red, or green parachutes indicated the various kinds of equipment, including even field guns. Sighting the colored parachutes, the Germans knew where to find the equipment which they had been instructed to handle.

A Battle of Equipment.

Planes and equipment carried the day for the Nazis. For the first three days the British had a big advantage on the ground in men and arms, but the Germans, controling the air, were able to pour down men, guns, and bombs in such numbers that the tables soon turned.

"This is a machine age war," said one officer, "and we hadn't the machines it took."

The officer who arrived today after an exhausting scramble over the 7,000 foot backbone of the Cretan mountains, was full of praise for the fight the British troops put up. He said he saw a working party fighting with shovels and pickhandles and other men using their bare fists and rocks against submachine guns, but the fire power of the Tommy guns with which every German parachutist was armed was too much.

Air Support Counts.

A high British officer declared the parachutists in themselves were unimportant. It was the terrific air support they received which beat the British, he said, and the fighting men who returned with him agreed.

"They [the parachutists] were bewildering when they came tumbling down on all sides," one fighter explained, "but they aren't so hot when they fight on even terms."

The troops evacuated from Crete looked like Coxey's army after the desperate rearguard fighting over trackless mountains. They arrived in Alexandria clad in all types of uniforms, some wearing civilian trousers to replace their own which were torn to bits in the bushes. Boots go to pieces quickly on the Cretan rocks, and some put on short German boots

THIS ISN'T OUR WAR, BROOKS SAYS IN DEBATE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 1.—Senator Wayland Brooks [R., Ill.] during the course of a debate tonight in the American Forum of the Air declared that the American people "do not want to be pushed, backed or driven into a European war."

He quoted from speeches by President Roosevelt giving assurances that American boys "are not going to be sent into foreign wars," pointed out that even the men drafted had been assured that they would be called upon to fight only on our own hemisphere, and called upon the President to "take the people into his confidence."

Calls for Referendum.

Senator Brooks said the American people had not voted to enter into an European or Asiatic war and that before they were pushed into one should at least be given a chance to hold a referendum.

The debaters for the affirmative on the question: "Shall the United States enter the European war?" were Herbert Agar, editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, and William C. Chanler, corporation counsel of New York City. Teamed with Senator Brooks for the negative was Senator D. Worth Clark [D., Idaho]. The debate was broadcast by the Mutual Broadcasting system.

Senator Clark said that a sound American policy would have demanded a strenuous effort to remain friendly with all the nations of the world.

Insult Powerful Nations.

"Instead," he said, "we almost deliberately set about to insult every powerful country on earth, and today we have just two friends left in the whole wide world, the Atlantic and the Pacific."

[Senator Clark yesterday said he agreed with Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D., Colo.) that the United States should take the lead in attempting to negotiate a peace in Europe, and added that this country, "instead of talking war, ought to be talking peace." Details on page 5.]

Agar said the war was not "just another chapter in the same old war," but the military phase of a world revolution.

When Black Death Strikes.

"Is this the end of the great American dream?" he asked, "that when the black death of civilization strikes we sit timidly hoping that it may strike our neighbor first? There is no use pouring ashes on our heads and saying that we are too wicked to save the world. We have got to save our world because our enemies are not offering an alternative world: They are building the graveyard of civilization."

During the round table argument that followed the formal speeches both senators demanded to know of one specific act that Hitler or Mussolini had taken against the rights of this country. Agar responded by reading from speeches of the two to show that they regarded the United States as their respective prey.

To this Senator Clark said: "I don't care about their mouthings. Show me one time that American rights have been violated." Agar was silent. Then Senator Clark asked Agar a question which the latter ducked answering.

Agar Evades Question.

The question was: "If you believe the United States must war upon dictators everywhere, should the United States declare war on Russia?" While Agar kept evading the question Clark kept pressing the question and cited Russia's taking over parts of Finland and Poland as Russian war on democracies. Finally Agar

Your Boys Are Not Going

President Roosevelt, on October 30, 1940, speaking to fathers and mothers on the selective service act:

"And while I am talking to you mothers and fathers, I give you one more assurance.

"I have said this before, but I shall say it again and again. Your boys are not going to be sent into any foreign wars.

"They are going into training to form a force so strong that, by its very existence, it will keep the threat of war far away from our shores.

ROOSEVELT FACE TO FACE WITH A REARMING CRISIS

May Pick Production Czar to End Chaos.

Asks Full Production

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 1.—Six hundred delegates of the British Labor party, who will meet tomorrow for their annual conference, were urged tonight by the Weekly Tribune, organ of the left wing of the party, to insist that British industry immediately be pressed into full production. The paper also charged that party leaders already are seeking to "prevent full democratic expression of opinion inside the party."

It mentioned complaints from "responsible trade unionists that British industry still is far from full production" and asserted there is "unnecessary idleness in workshops and slackness on the part of management."

It then demanded that the Labor party now "seek the release of the industrial effort of Britain from the inhibitions of private enterprise," adding, "the first step toward this end is to insist upon the immediate nationalization of the principal industries, like transport, mining, and steel."

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 1.—President Roosevelt is coming back to Washington Tuesday to confront a crisis in armament production. Official Washington is vibrant with predictions of a great shakeup in the whole production organization, possibly including at no distant date the delegation of the entire undertaking to a production czar.

According to the testimony of higherups in the administration, confusion reigns supreme in the activities of the Office of Emergency Management, the Office of Production Management, the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply, the war department, the navy department and other agencies having to do with the vast project of rearming America and at the same time furnishing Great Britain and China with war materials. As a result the production of armament is lagging seriously.

Goal Three Years Away.

So serious is the situation that at the present rate of production there is grave doubt that the country can be placed in a state of adequate defense within the next two or three years, not to mention arming Britain and China for immediate needs and arming our own navy and army sufficiently for the seizure of the Azores, the Cape Verde Islands and Dakar at a moment's notice, as the President plans, according to his Tuesday night speech.

The picture one obtains from the inside of the production organization is one of dollar a year big business men, New Deal pay rollers, army and navy officers running around in circles, stepping on each other's feet and getting nowhere rapidly.

According to the big business men, armament production is being stalled by the impractical New Dealers, headed by the President himself, who is keeping all power in his own hands, and by Harry Hopkins, the social worker who is the Presidential vicegerent.

New Dealers Pass Buck.

According to the New Dealers, the trouble is with the big business men who lack comprehension of the magnitude of the undertaking and who are interested chiefly in preventing an expansion of industry that would entail a severe depression after the end of the war.

In support of their charges, the New Dealers cite the statements of E. R. Stettinius Jr. and other dollar a year men that there would be no lack of aluminum, magnesium, steel, and other raw materials for the armament program, whereas it now appears necessary to ration such materials, beginning with aluminum and steel.

Business men called in to mobilize production think the heavy industries have staged a remarkable production comeback, when you consider the seven years of depression, the government antagonism to business and

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

BRITISH RESCUE 15,000 IN CRETE; ADMIT DEFEAT

Suffer Severe Losses in Island Battle.

Rescued by Troops.

One officer told me that after he had lost his group in the pitch black darkness, he reached the point of exhaustion and lay down along the trail, unable to get up. He said he escaped only because a group of privates stumbled on him in the dark and helped him to his feet.

"We fought 11 days without real rest," he said. "Fresh German troops constantly landed and their equipment was magnificent. When we pulled out we were tired and the mountains were pretty hard going. When we reached the coast we stood on cliffs and saw the sea only half a mile away, but it took us eight miles walking down a zigzag path to reach it."

Early in the battle the British saw that they couldn't hold their positions under the terrific air bombardment and the attacks of German shock troops, so they fought a slow, stubborn retreat. RAF groundstaffs joined the soldiers and showed they could handle a rifle and bayonet with the best.

Fight Thru Lines of Germans.

A flight lieutenant who came out with 40 men said they fought their way with bayonets, rifles, and grenades thru lines of Germans, got to their planes, and escaped.

For days past there were trickles of empire men fighting their way over the mountains, delaying the Germans every step, giving ground when they had to, and working slowly to the South Cretan coast, where the British navy took them off under cover of night.

Costly for Navy.

The battle of Crete was a costly one for the navy. The loss of three cruisers and four destroyers has been acknowledged. These sinkings, however, came early in the fight, when the warships were frustrating a German attempt to land troops from the sea. No losses during the evacuation have yet been reported and it is believed none was suffered.

[The Germans have claimed the sinking of 11 cruisers, 8 destroyers, 1 submarine, and 5 torpedo boats out of the British Mediterranean fleet.]

One word entered into every account any returning soldier gave of the fight on Crete—"confusion."

It was complete, utter confusion most of the time. Confusion has been turned to military use by the Germans and the Crete parachutists evidently were given careful instruction in how to create and take advantage of it.

The fact that attacking troops were dropped among the defenders instead of opposing them in a line indicates the German tactics. Another element was the nondescript uniforms they wore, such as overalls or almost any sort of battle dress. That was given by most of those who saw the fighting as the reason for the charge by Prime Minister Churchill that the German parachutists wore Australian battle dress. [This charge has been vehemently denied by the Germans.]

Germans Pay Ghastly Price.

The whole of Crete's long, narrow, rock ribbed territory became bitterly fought ground that cost the Germans a ghastly price in lives for every square mile they won.

Exacting part of this price were the Cretans, themselves, who lived up to their old reputation as fighting men. They went after the Germans with guns, bayonets, and long knives. They helped cover the retreat of the British and hid them in the mountains and along the cliffs above the sea while they waited to get out.

British Withdraw from Crete

CRITICISM IN BRITAIN

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 2 [Monday].—London newspapers this morning were unanimous in admitting that the evacuation of Crete was to be expected despite the optimism expressed only a week ago that the navy would tip the scales in Britain's favor.

All blamed the lack of air bases and fighting planes for what the News Chronicle described as a "heavy defeat" and most were critical of the fact that during their seven months on the island the British did not construct a single new air field.

Under the heading, "Heroism Isn't Enough," the News Chronicle declared the lack of air bases contributed to the British defeat in Greece, "yet in two weeks the Nazis were able to so reorganize and repair those same bombed bases that they were able to launch from them the greatest air blitz in history. Do they work faster? Are their technical methods better?"

Must Gain Air Supremacy.

The British, it suggested, still are relying too much on sea power, adding: "One lesson emerges from every battle—we must gain air supremacy."

The News Chronicle military correspondent was critical of the army and air staffs which handled the Crete campaign. "Whose duty was it to organize the air defense of Crete?" he asked, at the same time complaining that no preparations were made to blow up the island air fields before they were lost.

Applying the lessons of Crete to the defense of this country, the correspondent urged creation of a new link between the army and air force by setting up an "airdrome defense corps," specially equipped to guard air fields.

Tightening of Army-Air Link.

The Daily Telegraph and Daily Herald similarly joined in demanding tightening of the army-air link. The Daily Telegraph stated that the "complete interplay of naval supremacy, air power, and the army must be assured now that the danger to Egypt, Cyprus, Syria, and our whole Mediterranean campaign has been made greater."

The Daily Herald said: "There must be close, constant coöperation between the army and air force."

The Daily Mail, describing the loss of Crete as a "heavy blow," warned that "we are driven almost to the last stand in the Mediterranean."

The Daily Express, while drawing the same conclusion, declared that "Crete has not been in vain," and said it gave Gen. Henry Maitland Wilson, commander in Palestine, a chance "to make his dispositions for the coming German onslaught in the middle east."

HEAR VICHY WILL CLEAR PATH TO SPAIN FOR NAZIS

BERNE, Switzerland, June 1.—The French government at Vichy is preparing to withdraw its frontier authorities 15.6 miles eastward from the strip of occupied territory along France's Atlantic coast, it was rumored here today.

This arrangement, understood to be an outcome of the recent Hitler-Darlan meeting, is being made to permit German troops to reach the Spanish frontier more easily without passing thru unoccupied France. In exchange for the concession, the line between the occupied and unoccupied zones of France will be moved northward an average of 21.8 miles, according to the rumor.

BRITONS VOICE NEW CRITICISMS OF WAR STRATEGY

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 1.—The sinking of the German battleship Bismarck cheered the nation and contributed to the popularity of Prime Minister Churchill, but it has not stilled criticism of British war strategy nor the demand as expressed by David Lloyd George that Churchill "surround himself with ordinary minds . . . above all with common sense . . . who will stand up to him and say no!"

Lloyd George, who was premier during the world war, made the demand in the house of commons recently during a "father to son" talk to Churchill, and since then there have been signs of growing discontent, both in parliament and the press, with present cabinet setup.

Cavalcade, a weekly, in a two page spread captioned, "The only way we can win," reviewed the series of failures of the government since the war began, and the official explanations of the disasters.

Superior Nazi Direction.

"When stripped of childish alibis all they [the explanations] add up to is that Hitler's direction of the war is superior to that of Britain, and that unless Britain's direction can become superior to that of Hitler, Britain will lose the war," Cavalcade declared.

Parliament was described as "insulated from the rest of the nation," and "out of touch with the realities of war as experienced by the masses."

Tired of Special Pleaders.

Parliamentary government "is in fact becoming bankrupt in the eyes of the people who are nauseated by the string of special pleaders set up in the house of commons to explain away the muddle and disasters that crowd upon the country week by week." Complete mobilization of the best brains "as well as every resource of wealth and man power" was demanded by Cavalcade.

The New Statesman and Nation devoted a page to the "strength and weakness of the government," and declared "Churchill's immense qualities must not blind the British to his own grave defects or to the obvious weakness of his government."

Harold J. Laski, author and professor of political science of London university, wrote the article. He asserted that "Churchill remains as a very great war leader," but said "it still is not yet clear that he is in any sense a great prime minister."

GERMAN TROOPS MOP UP IN CRETE; CAPTURE 10,000

Meet Italian Forces in South of Isle.

BERLIN, June 1 (AP).—The axis conquest of Crete, now in the mopup stage, already has netted about 10,000 British and Greek prisoners, the German high command announced today. By land and air the axis sought to cut the allied retreat across the Mediterranean to Egypt.

German and Italian columns—Germans from the western end of the island and Italians from the eastern end—had established a junction on the south coast near Ierapetra and were reported wiping out the last vestiges of the defense.

Over waters south of Crete, the German air force attacked light British naval forces—there to cover attempts at troop withdrawal—and damaged a destroyer.

Down Four Hurricanes.

Clashing with RAF fighters, the Germans knocked four Hurricanes into the sea. One merchant ship [possibly a troop transport] sank under the Luftwaffe's bombs.

Reports of action against the British ships heading for the African coast with Greek and British troops aboard showed that at least part of the British army had succeeded in escaping.

Informed sources said Ierapetra, where the Germans and Italians joined, was the only handy place where the rocky shore offered a beach to embark an army.

Occupation of the town, said the official German news agency, DNB, "shattered the last hope" of the British to remove any large force.

Such Escape at Other Points.

At other points on the southern coast, however, groups of British and Greek troops sought escape. German bombers patroled the coastline, raining bombs on troop concentrations. At one place in southwestern Crete many tanks were reported destroyed from the air.

The battle of Crete, DNB said, can be regarded as ended with the mopup expected to be only a "matter of days."

Some of the British on Crete apparently were headed for Libya to strengthen the besieged garrison at Tobruk. It was reported that German and Italian artillery had fired on troop transports entering Tobruk harbor yesterday.

Base in Virgin Islands Occupied by U. S. Planes

SAN JUAN, P. R., June 1.—United States army pursuit planes have occupied the new base at St. Croix, Virgin Islands, it was announced today.

WOMAN FOUND DEAD OF GAS.

Mrs. Anthonette Kral, 48 years old, was found dead last night in the gas filled basement of her home at 5401 West 25th street, Cicero, apparently a suicide. Her husband, Joseph, a tavern keeper, could give no motive for suicide.

Actress Is Bride

GENE TIERNEY.

Las Vegas, Nev., June 1 (AP).—Gene Tierney, 19 years old, of New York, became the Hollywood film colony's first June bride today. She eloped here by plane with Count Oleg Cassini, 28 years old, of Washington, D. C. They were married by Justice of the Peace M. B. Brown.

Miss Tierney was brought to Hollywood from the New York stage a year ago and is due back tomorrow to resume work in her first starring vehicle, "Belle Starr."

Cassini, a dress designer, was the fourth husband of Merry Fahrney, patent medicine heiress. They were married in Elkton, Md., in 1938, remarried in an elaborate Russian orthodox ceremony in New York two weeks later, and divorced in New York May 17, 1940.

BOMBS DROPPED ON DUBLIN WERE NAZI, IRISH FIND

DUBLIN, Ireland, June 2 [Monday] (AP).—The government of Ireland officially declared today that bombs dropped Saturday morning, killing at least 30 persons, "were of German origin."

Map locates places bombed.

Ireland's chargé d'affaires in Berlin is being directed to protest to Germany against the "violation of Irish territory" and to claim reparation as well as ask assurances that efforts will be made to prevent repetition of the incident.

The government information bureau officially reported that the four bombs dropped on Dublin early Saturday killed at least 30 persons and wounded about 80. Thirty-one are missing. Considerable damage to property was caused by an another bomb dropped near Arklow, in County Wicklow, early Sunday morning. No lives were lost.

Flames Damage Boeing Airplane Plant in Canada

VANCOUVER, B. C., June 1 [Canadian Press].—Fire of undetermined cause destroyed the administration building and damaged the main factory of the Boeing Aircraft company of Canada, Ltd., eight miles south of here, today. Damage was estimated at $65,000, of which $5,000 was to the factory. Stanley Burke, president of the company, said the damage would not interfere with production.

PICTURES REVEAL BOMBS HEAVILY DAMAGE HAMBURG

LONDON, June 1 (AP).—Photographic reconnaissance over Hamburg, Germany's first seaport, has shown 36 "very large" industrial buildings demolished or seriously damaged by Britain's powerful new superbombs in May, the air ministry news service announced tonight.

"The German people are having the war brought home to them in Hamburg, Kiel, and Wilhelmshaven," the announcement said. "There is no concealing the latest damage and from these centers of devastation rumors run their course thruout Germany."

Called a "Tragic Picture."

Recounting the damage done in Hamburg alone by the new superexplosives, the ministry's account said:

"One of these new bombs fell into the Steinwerder industrial area. Industrial buildings covering a space of 20,000 square yards were demolished. Over a space of 75,000 square yards there was severe damage from the blast.

"Reports from within Germany describe Hamburg as a tragic picture. It is said that there scarcely is any district in the city—the second largest in Germany, with a normal population of 1,680,000—which has not suffered.

"In one of the principal firms producing copper, the Sinnwerke Wilhelmsburg, a large building with three or four wings, was destroyed, and others damaged by fire."

Telling of further damage in this biggest seaport in continental Europe, the statement said "wreckage was caused to shipbuilding yards, oil refineries, oil tanks, and the city gas works."

"Can't Conceal Damage."

At Mannheim, the oft-bombed Rhineland city, the news service said "it was equally impossible to conceal the damage. Tho after the attack on May 5 the great chemical works in the industrial suburb of Ludwigshaven was cordoned off by the army, ambulances were seen to leave the works thruout the day.

"Docks at Mannheim were another focus of attack and there is no doubt that damage in this area was substantial.

"Sixteen wings of warehousing on both banks of Verbindung's canal have been entirely gutted. This area of complete devastation covers four and a half acres."

U. S. ARMY TO LET UNFIT OFFICERS GO, LEAR WARNS

Maneuvers Will Settle Future Status.

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Manchester, Tenn., June 1.—Lieut. Gen. Ben Lear, commander of the 2d army, today reminded officers of the 5th, 27th, and 30th divisions that their mental and physical efficiency in the month of field maneuvers, starting tomorrow morning in this area, will determine their future status in the commissioned ranks of the United States army.

Gen. Lear issued an order drawing attention to new army regulations which provide for discharge of officers in all grades who show either mental or physical deficiencies in the field.

"The spirit as well as the letter of these regulations will be carried out as a primary duty to the armed forces of the nation," said Gen. Lear.

"The armies of the United States are engaged in intensive training for one purpose, and that is the attainment of combat efficiency.

Personal Ties of No Avail.

"Elimination of unfit, inefficient, and incompetent leaders is of greater importance than the elimination of defective and inefficient weapons.

"Replacement of unsuitable officers by competent leaders must be accomplished with the same skill and judgment exercised in replacing obsolete and ineffective weapons. It must be free from all personal considerations, friendly or unfriendly."

All units of the 5th [regular] division from Fort Custer, Mich.; the 27th [New York National Guard] from Fort McClellan, Ala., and the 30th [Tennessee, Georgia, North and South Carolina National Guard] from Fort Jackson, S. C., were in place tonight for the opening of the field exercises tomorrow.

In the opening maneuver the three divisions will operate together as an army against the 153d infantry from Arkansas. In later operations the divisions will maneuver against each other to perfect intradivision teamwork.

First Large Scale Test.

During the third week of the maneuver the three divisions will be consolidated again into one command for defense against the powerful 2d armored division from Fort Benning, Ga. The arrival and operation of the armored division will provide the first test in this country of large scale mechanized warfare and the tactics to be used against such a striking force.

Gen. Lear said today some armament will be simulated during the exercise, but that every division will have enough new, modern equipment so that training will not be impeded. Fifty-five thousand troops will take part in the first part of the program, using 12,000 vehicles. When the armored division gets into action, 77,000 troops will be deployed over the 600 square mile combat area.

BRITISH TOLD TO MAKE OLD CLOTHES A BADGE OF THEIR WILL TO WIN

LONDON, June 1 (AP).—The frayed cuff, the threadbare knee, the outstyled frock have been made badges of Britain's will to win the war. This in a land where sartorial perfection is a major industry.

Oliver Lyttelton, president of the board of trade, which yesterday ordered clothes rationing for Britain, asked the nation today to accept the measure in good grace because going without new clothes would help defeat Germany.

"Our sacrifice is little enough when others risk their lives for us," he said in a radio broadcast.

"I know all the women will look smart. We men may look shabby. If we do we mustn't be ashamed."

Rationing was necessary and fair, he declared, saying it was not only a problem of raw materials "but also a problem of factories and plants, which we have to turn from the necessities of peace to the necessities of war."

London families, surprised by the sudden order for clothes rationing, rushed to buy at Sunday markets like Petticoat Lane, where traders said they had no official notice of the rationing.

"Now's your chance, ladies; you won't get them again," salesmen shouted.

Shoppers of both sexes were jammed six and seven deep around the clothing stalls, and in the shoe markets clerks worked double time. Men shoppers left with big parcels of women's stockings, lingerie, and dresses.

FREE MEDICAL CARE IS BOOSTED IN NEW ZEALAND

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, June 1.—A hint of possible government action to give the nation free medical care, a plan now blocked by the refusal of doctors to coöperate, was given tonight by the progovernment newspaper, The Standard.

The newspaper quoted Arthur H. Nordmeyer, health minister, as declaring he intends to bring about a general speeding up of the scheme, and is aware of the public's disappointment at the doctors' attitude.

TRY FOR PEACE, HALT WAR TALK, SENATORS PLEAD

Democrats Urge U. S. Lead in Drive for Pact.

Washington, D. C., June 1 (AP).—Great Britain's loss of Crete led two Democratic senators today to renew proposals that the United States take the lead in attempting to negotiate a peace in Europe.

Senator E. C. Johnson.

Senator Edwin C. Johnson [D., Colo.] told reporters that he thought the sooner that peace was established the better the terms on which Great Britain and Germany could agree.

Agreeing with Johnson in this observation, Senator D. Worth Clark [D., Idaho] said it was his belief that the United States, "instead of talking war ought to be talking peace."

On the other hand, Senator Walter F. George [D., Ga.], acting senate majority leader, took the view that the fall of Crete should only spur the United States to redoubled efforts to supply Britain with all types of planes in greater quantities. The British attributed Germany's success at Crete to control of the air.

Resolution to Be Revived.

Johnson said he intended to revive soon a resolution he has introduced which would put congress on record as requesting the President to take the leadership in urging neutral nations to unite in seeking peace.

Declaring that he would support this resolution "whole heartedly," Clark said he believed that such a peace would give the United States an opportunity to build up its defenses against attack that now was denied because of the large amount of military equipment which was being furnished to Great Britain.

Johnson said that defeat of the allied forces in Crete seemed to demonstrate that the war was progressively going against Britain.

"Britain could have made a better peace a year or six months ago than she can today," he declared. "She can make a better peace today than she probably can six months from now. Therefore the sooner peace is established, the better it will be for Britain."

Would Continue to Arm.

Johnson said, however, that he thought cessation of hostilities in Europe should not be accompanied by any reduction in the American defense effort, adding that this country ought to continue to accumulate the military equipment needed to repel any attack.

Congress itself had only one major measure on its prospective legislative calendar for the coming week, the 9 billion 452 million dollar army appropriations bill.

10,549 TON BRITISH ARMED MERCHANT CRUISER IS SUNK

LONDON, June 1 (AP).—The loss of the 10,549 ton armed merchant cruiser Salopian was announced tonight by the admiralty. The number of casualties and details of the sinking were not stated.

The Salopian formerly was the Shropshire, a Bibby liner which operated between England and India, but was renamed when the admiralty took it over for war operations to avoid confusion with the 9,830 ton cruiser Shropshire. Salop is an old English name for Shropshire used frequently in the poetry of A. E. Houseman.

The Salopian's captain, Sir J. M. Alleyne, was the navigator of the cruiser Vindictive when it was sunk as a blockship in the harbor channel of Ostend, Belgium, in May, 1918, in an attempt to stop use of that port as a submarine nest. For some time he was harbor master at Singapore. He retired with the rank of captain in 1936 after 32 years of service.

Sunk Off Cape Verde Islands.

ST. VINCENT, Cape Verde Islands, June 1 (AP).—The 6,843 ton British freighter Clan McDougall was reported to have been torpedoed and sunk off this port yesterday. Men from St. Vincent rushed to help survivors.

CHILD DROWNS IN CESSPOL.

TWO FOREMOST INTERVENTION GROUPS UNITE

New York, June 1 [Special].—The New York chapter of the Commitee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies and the fight for Freedom committee announced today that they are merging into one organization. These two groups have earned the reputation of being the most outspoken proponents of United States involvement in the European war.

A joint statement said: "The President has assumed the unflinching leadership of a nation ready to recognize an aggressive defense short of nothing as the only sure way to avoid disaster for our country. In doing this he has established a true basis for national unity. Such unity, we believe, should permeate every stratum of society outside as well as within the government.

"It is most important that this unity should be manifested in private groups of citizens, such as those we represent, which have been striving to rouse our people to the acuteness of the danger confronting us. The purpose of this statement, therefore, is to give notice that the forces of the undersigned organizations unite in principle in support of the President's policy and in its implementation. Our goal is now a common one: Support the President; beat Hitler."

MORGENTHAU SR. URGES FULLEST AID FOR BRITAIN

New York, June 1 (AP).—Calling for full aid to Great Britain, Henry Morgenthau Sr. declared today that "one valiant small island stands between the continuance of our civilization and a new dark age in which the Nazis expect to be the masters and hope to make us the slaves."

Morgenthau, former United States ambassador to Turkey and father of the present secretary of the treasury, spoke on an "I'm an American" program over the Blue network of the National Broadcasting company.

May Pick Production Czar to Untangle Mess.

Key Men Hostile to Industry.

These business men echo the opinion of Dr. William E. Wickenden, recently resigned official of the Office of Production Management, who said that "most of the key posts are filled by men unfriendly to industry and committed to the principle that labor can do no wrong" and that "we still are trying to grow a defense head on a New Deal body and tail. The tail seems at times to be wagging the dog."

Thousands of small manufacturers have been unable to obtain contracts to make parts of army and navy equipment. Now they find themselves facing the impossibility of continuing production for civilian needs as a result of the rationing of aluminum and steel.

Some of the New Dealers, like the President's biographer, Ernest K. Lindley, regard "the White House the bottleneck" of armament production because of the President's insistence on keeping all power in his own hands.

Lay Blame on Knudsen.

From New Deal quarters comes the complaint that William S. Knudsen, director general of the Office of Production Management, is "too easy going" to get results quickly. The President is being urged to name and delegate full power to a production czar. Some of the New Dealers favor Wendell Willkie for that job, but admit he will not be named because the President does not like him. Others are booming Mayor Fiorello La Guardia of New York for the post.

The shortcomings of armament production are becoming more glaring with every report that leaks thru the official censorship. Scheduled for production in April were 2,068 airplanes. Only 1,268 were turned out.

The original rearmament program called for a total of only 2,400 medium and 1,200 heavy bombers. The President stepped up the demands for heavy bombers to 500 a month, but it will be a year or more before such production can be achieved.

Wake Up to Bomber Needs.

In 1938, Louis A. Johnson, assistant secretary of war, and Gen. Malin Craig, army chief of staff, rejected heavy bombers. Maj. Gen. Frank M. Andrews, then in command of the GHQ air force, was overruled and benched.

Last February Maj. Gen. George H. Brett, chief of the air corps, discounted the value of big bombers. Knudsen differed, but pleaded in vain for 2,000 big bombers.

About a month ago two war department assistant secretaries, Robert A. Lovett [for air] and John J. McCloy woke up to the need of thousands of flying fortresses, just as the British were waking up. They spurred the President to action.

Both the war and navy departments are accused of amateurishness in designing guns and other military material. Designs are changed, frequently after contracts are let, and even after the beginning of production, causing delays and suspensions of operation.

One 105 Mm. Howitzer Built.

Only one 105 mm. howitzer has been produced up to date. Production of 40 is promised for this month and 220 a month by the early part of next year.

Production of 37 mm. automatic anti-aircraft guns has just begun. Only four of the 90 mm. anti-aircraft guns have been turned out, and quantity production is not promised till 1942. According to British experts, the range of this gun is 6,000 feet short of that required for coping with German bombing planes. Our warships are so inadequately equipped with such anti-aircraft guns as we have that they would be easy prey for German bombers.

Only 12 37-mm. anti-tank guns a month are being turned out and these are pronounced by many experts to be about pop-gun strength against the heavy German tanks. Of the 400 field guns of 155 mm. caliber already ordered by the army, none has been produced up to date. Light tanks are coming off the assembly lines at the rates of 13 a day. Production of medium tanks is beginning, of heavy tanks yet to begin.

BRITISH LINER ARRIVES; JUST MISSED RAIDER

One of Passengers Is a Rear Admiral.

New York, June 1 (AP).—The 26,943 ton Cunard White Star liner Britannic slipped into port today and some among the ship's 208 passengers said she narrowly missed meeting the German battleship Bismarck during the crossing.

Most of the passengers were understood to be British government workers replacing or augmenting forces of British bureaus in the United States.

Dispatches from Ottawa, Ont., on Friday said a large liner loaded with hundreds of British military personnel bound for Canada and the United States narrowly escaped the Bismarck's guns.

Rear Admiral's Story.

Rear Admiral James Dorling, who came here to act as technical adviser to the British supply consul at Washington, D. C., commented:

"It might be interesting to note that at just about the time the Bismarck was off Brest, we were coming from England. Our paths must have crossed very closely, altho we didn't sight each other."

Flight Lieutenant Richard H. Hillary, a fighter pilot of the royal air force, who arrived to become a member of an advisory committee to the British air purchasing commission, said some one had told passengers that the Bismarck at one time was only 40 miles from the ship.

Ship's Eighth Trip.

The Britannic made its last previous crossing July 29. This was its eighth trip since the war began, and marked the first arrival of a British passenger liner in New York since Feb. 11, when the Georgic arrived with 567 passengers.

Some of the Britannic's passengers described themselves as civil servants and said they were under orders not to discuss their mission here. One man carried a gas mask, which he said he brought as a souvenir. Six young men carried steel helmets.

One group of British government employés, passengers said, left the ship at Halifax.

BRITISH DESTROY 1,696 PLANES IN NEAR EAST WAR

LONDON, June 1, (AP).—The British announced today they had destroyed 1,696 axis planes on all middle east fronts since operations began there last June 11, the day after Italy entered the war. At the same time they lost 260.

The axis middle east losses probably were higher, the British asserted, since the figure did not include many aircraft "known to have been damaged or destroyed on the ground."

The middle east aerial score in May, officials said, was 260 axis planes against 62 British, "a superiority of more than four to one."

Last month the British said they brought down a total of 205 German planes over England and the continent against 87 British losses.

The British also said they had brought down 156 German night bombers in May for a new record.

The previous best month's toll of night bombers brought down was 87 in April, indicating that defense against this type of attack was steadily improving.

Claims Supremacy Ends.

CAIRO, Egypt, June 1 (AP).—A high Royal air force spokesman today said that Germany's air supremacy which swept the Nazi forces thru the Balkans and into Crete ended at that Mediterranean island because of the air base factor. He estimated the Nazi air force thrown at Crete at 1,000 planes and that the Germans lots "a great number" of them.

If the Germans carry the luftwaffe to the mainland of Africa or Asia Minor, he said, the situation will be largely reversed and even should they attempt air invasion of Cyprus they will not have the same vantage positions of bases as in the attack on Crete.

"The essence of air operations, as in naval operations, is secure bases," he continued.

Advance and Spread Out.

"German bases and the range they had explain why we could not put an air cover over Crete. As the Germans advanced they spread out, obtaining a semicircle of bases around Crete and within a short distance of it. We were pushed back on a corner of the triangle."

In Greece, the officer said, there were many fields hopeless for aviation in the winter but which became rapidly suitable after the first few dry days of spring.

This change in Greece this year came just as the Germans occupied it and consequently they were able to improve landing fields in many places where the British could not.

SENATOR BROOKS DECLARES THIS IS NOT OUR WAR

People Won't Be Pushed In, He Says.

said he would be willing to fight Russia or Japan when they became a menace to the United States. "At the moment," said Agar, "Russia is doing what Henry Ford proposes, and that is to sell to both sides."

This brought from Senator Brooks a spirited rebuke: "One of the most terrible results of the present situation," he said, "is the attempt to besmirch the name of any one who wants our country to remain at peace. Henry Ford has nothing to do with the question at debate. The question is: 'Shall the United States enter the European war?' and my answer is 'No.'"

Chanler argued that the moment Americans allowed the oceans to fall into hostile hands the oceans would become a broad highway leading to their very doors.

"Not Our Wars."

In his prepared speech Senator Brooks asserted that the wars in Europe and Asia are not our wars and that furthermore we are wholly unprepared to wage war on the modern scale.

"We should not become a shooting participant in this war," said Senator Brooks, "because: [1] It is not our war and an overwhelming majority of the American people do not want to enter this war. [2] We are not prepared to enter the war for many, many reasons.

"Our people as a whole have been educated in and have lived in a spirit of tolerance, good will, and understanding, and they want to live at peace at home and with the peoples of the world. An overwhelming majority of our people want peace today.

"The President, above all people, knew this." He solemnly promised on Sept. 11 that 'We will not participate in foreign wars and we will not send our army, naval, or air forces outside the Americas except in case of attack.'

"On Oct. 28, 1940, he promised the American people: 'In all these ways we made it clear to every American and to every foreign nation that we would avoid becoming entangled thru some episode beyond our borders.' The people accepted these promises, but they do not square with the President's recent speech on May 27, 1941, when he said: 'Our patrols are helping now to insure delivery of the needed supplies to Britain. All additional measures necessary to deliver the goods will be taken.'

"Our naval ships are not properly armored to protect them from bombs released on them from the sky.

"Our regular army and even our marines are not properly trained in modern blitzkrieg warfare in sufficient numbers to launch an offensive campaign on foreign shores. Our production lines are slowed up by confusion in Washington and by strikes at the plants.

Not Equipped or Trained.

"Our conscripted men are neither equipped nor trained and, besides, the very law under which these men were drafted provided that they were not to be sent outside our hemisphere.

"Our people have determined to aid Great Britain 'short of war' and congress has appropriated 7 billion dollars for that purpose. We have given away or sold to foreign governments, principally Great Britain, so many bombers and fighting planes that we have neither the trained pilots nor the bombing and fighting planes to adequately support and protect a force large enough to take or hold even Dakar.

"This country is prepared to prepare.

"We wholeheartedly want production and more production of the modern machines of modern war—ships, trucks, tanks, and planes—with speed, with armor, and with firing power. We want the modern implements of war.

"Give us these and we will be a united people, ready to fight and to die in the defense of our country.

"But we do not want to be kidded, pushed, backed, or driven into a European war."

BRITISH MUNITIONS BOAT DESTROYED AT TOBRUK, SAY ITALIANS

ROME, June 1 (AP).—A munitions dump was blown up at Tobruk, harbor defenses raked by bomb fire, and a small munitions boat sunk in Italian air attacks on the British garrison in North Africa, the Italian high command reported today. A tank supported British thrust south of Tobruk was repulsed.

British Attack Bengazi.

CAIRO, Egypt, June 1 (AP).—Bengazi, major Libyan port of entry for axis forces in North Africa, again was bombed by British forces Friday night. Hits were reported on two moles.

ASSERTS GERMAN PLANS FOILED AS BISMARCK SANK

LONDON, June 1 (AP).—When British torpedoes pounded the German battleship Bismarck to the bottom of the Atlantic last Tuesday morning they "frustrated important enemy designs," First Lord of the Admiralty A. V. Alexander said tonight in a broadcast.

It already had been suggested by informed quarters that the Bismarck with an extraordinary complement of 2,400 men—hundreds more than normal—planned to man captive ships or possibly to set landing parties ashore somewhere. Alexander paid many deep tributes to the fighting men at sea and expressed high hope for victory. "Off Crete," he said, "the navy has been fighting one of the sternest battles of its history against continuous attacks from the air, with the one thought that we could not let the army down."

AMERICAN CLERIC IN BRITAIN ASKS U. S. TO JOIN WAR

BROOKWOOD, England, June 1 (AP).—The Rev. Marcus A. Spencer, American pastor of St. John's Presbyterian church in London, prayed today for United States armed aid to Britain.

The pastor, formerly of Washington, D. C., and Warren, O., spoke at American Memorial day services at a military cemetery at which Mrs. Winston Churchill laid a wreath in tribute to American dead in the world war. Mrs. John G. Winant, wife of the American ambassador, was in the audience of several hundred Britons and Americans.

"We pray thee that as America has been led by thee to aid without stint from afar, she may now hold back no longer," said the Rev. Spencer. "May she take that further step of complete brotherhood of arms, risk, and sacrifice. So may we as a nation pledge the last full measure of devotion so that the cause of freedom shall not perish from the earth."

On behalf of Ambassador Winant, Chargé d'affaires Herschel V. Johnson placed a wreath at the base of the flagpole from which flew the Stars and Stripes and the Union Jack.

Ex-Kaiser Wilhelm, Ill at Doorn, Shows Improvement

BERLIN, June 1 (AP).—Former Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany, ill at Doorn, the Netherlands, continued to improve today, a representative of the Hohenzollern administration said. Crown Prince Friedrich Wilhelm, who had hurried to his father's bedside, was expected to return to Germany tomorrow.

7 AXIS BOMBERS SHOT DOWN OVER MEDITERRANEAN

British Also Attack Italian Ship Again in Sfax.

CAIRO, Egypt, June 1 (AP).—Seven axis bombers were destroyed in a great air battle over the Mediterranean yesterday, the RAF command announced today.

The war bulletin also reported three direct bomb hits on an Italian ship in waters of French ruled Tunisia. The Italian ship was bombed at Sfax and was identified as the same one attacked at that Tunisian port on Friday. Clouds of black smoke billowed up after the latest attack.

The axis planes were declared downed by RAF fighters maintaining "defensive patrols over his majesty's ships in the Mediterranean thru yesterday."

[These possibly were units of the royal navy evacuating remnants of the allied forces from Crete.]

The destroyed axis planes were identified as five German Junkers and two Italian bombers. A number of additional Junkers were said to have been so badly damaged that it was unlikely they returned to their base.

French Fire on British Plane.

VICHY, France, June 1 (AP).—Dispatches from Beirut said French anti-aircraft defenses fired today on a British plane which flew over Damascus, capital of Syria. Four British planes again bombed the airdrome at Neirab near Aleppo yesterday.

In North Africa Gen. Maxime Weygand, French commander in chief, said anti-aircraft defenses would be tightened following the series of British bombings of the port at Sfax in Tunisia.

Axis "Shipping Crisis."

LONDON, June 1 (AP).—The ministry of economic warfare declared tonight that the axis faces a shipping crisis because of British naval action against French ships in the Mediterranean.

In what the ministry called a "commentary" on Vice Premier Admiral Darlan's recent statement that France has lost 792,000 tons of shipping to the British, the ministry asked:

"Why does the admiral choose this moment to attack? The axis is facing a shipping crisis."

Since the beginning of the war and up to May 13, the axis has lost 3,000,000 tons of shipping, the ministry said, and "it needs every ship it can lay its hands on in an attempt to solve an acute transport problem.

"Our action against the axis controled shipping in the Mediterranean is, from the axis point of view, a battle comparable to the battle of the Atlantic," the commentary said.

Control of Every Ton.

The British said it had been proved that when Germany wishes she can control every ton of French shipping in Vichy's hands. Hitherto the British "pursued a policy of great restraint and leniency in hope that French shipping would be used only for the needs of unoccupied France."

"Only when the fiction of Vichy independence had been blatantly discarded," concluded the ministry, "both by Vichy and Germany, did we officially take full cognizance of the abuse of French independence by the axis.

"We know orders for scuttling are issued by the French admiralty by order of the armistice commission. It can clearly be seen that free disposal of France's ports and communication routes by Darlan or Vichy is as illusory as the freedom of Vichy from German control."

It was learned here that the French ambassador in Madrid has presented to British Ambassador Sir Samuel Hoare a note protesting against the bombing last week of the French merchant ship Rabelais at Sfax, Tunisia.

'Ready for Anything,' New British Malayan Chief Says

SINGAPORE, June 1 (AP).—Lieut. Gen. Arthur E. Percival, new commander of the British land forces in Malaya, said tonight that tho peace still reigns in this part of the empire "we must be ready for any eventuality." Singapore is so vital to the empire in the east that it was natural that the Malayan garrison should become an "army of the empire," he said in a broadcast.

ARMISTICE ENDS FIGHTING IN IRAQ; REGENT, RETURNS

British Troops to Get Passage Thru Land.

CAIRO, Egypt, June 1 (AP).—All fighting in Iraq between the British and axis inspired rebel forces of fugitive Rashid Ali Al Gallani ended at 8 a. m. today under terms of an armistice reached yesterday, Iraqi sources here announced.

Emir Abdul Ilah.

The Iraqi regent, Emir Abdul Ilah, who left the country after his government was overthrown by Rashid Ali on April 4, entered Bagdad this morning. The British said the city "remains quiet."

Six year old King Feisal II. was said also to be safe in the Iraqi capital. There had been reports that he had been carried away by Rashid Ali when the latter fled to Iran [Persia].

[Other reports were conflicting. The British radio said last night "at present the authorities in Bagdad have no news of the whereabouts of the boy king." A delayed dispatch from Ankara, Turkey, said the Iraqi legation there announced Rashid Ali and the king had moved with the government to Kirku in northern Iraq.]

Mosul Oil Fields "Intact."

The British said the Mosul oil fields in the north, which provide oil for the Mediterranean fleet, were "intact." They said further that the governor of Mosul "was opposed to Rashid Ali's gang from the beginning" of the short lived war that started on May 2.

Despite the reassuring statements concerning the Mosul fields, military sources indicated the situation there remained clouded. Some German planes were reported still there.

It was understood, British dispatches said, that the new Iraqi government would accede to the British request to allow the transit of British troops thru the country—the refusal of Rashid Ali to allow this caused the Iraqi outbreak.

Provides Return of Prisoners.

The armistice also provided for the return of Iraqi troops and prisoners to their peacetime pursuits, release of British prisoners of war and internment by the Iraqis of Italian and German prisoners.

There had been 500 Britons living in the British embassy and the American legation and they left the premises today for the first time in weeks. They were reported to have been threatened with "extinction with bombs" if the British attacked Bagdad.

REVEALS ARMY'S TESTS WITH TANK LANDED BY PLANE

Washington, D. C., June 1 (AP).—Authoritative congressional sources today disclosed that the army is experimenting with a tank carrying transport plane similar to those Germany used in the invasion of Crete.

The experimental craft carry a very light armored tank in sections, which can be readily assembled once the plane lands. The tanks weigh between 5 and 7 tons—roughly half the size of the regular "light tank" used by the armored forces.

Representative Albert J. Engel [R., Mich.], a member of the house military appropriations subcommittee, said tank carrying planes might prove invaluable for hemisphere defense.

"With our navy, we don't have to worry so much about Germany bringing her panzer divisions with their light and medium tanks across the Atlantic to South America or other points in this hemisphere," Engel said.

"But Germany has demonstrated in Crete just how effective air borne tanks can be. We should not lose sight of the possibility that the Nazis might repeat their Crete performance in Greenland and land forces equipped with such tanks an dbe able to fortify themselves before we could reach the scene with our heavier equipment.

"If, however, we had some of the same type of equipment which we could land within 48 hours, they would not have such an advantage."

Engel declared that American tank production is progressing to such an extent that within six months the army will be getting both light and medium tanks faster than it can train crews for them.

At present, the United States armored force consists of two full divisions. Two others are being organized, and the general staff plans to have eight by the end of next year.

An American armored division consists of 12,700 officers and enlisted men, and has more than 19,000 weapons of all types, including 75 millimeter and 37 millimeter cannon, machine guns, pistols and 105 millimeter Howitzers.

JOHN E. WARNER SHOWS GENE KRUPA HOW TO BEAT BALDNESS INSTEAD OF A DRUM

Chicago, June 2 (J. W.)—Gene Krupa, world-famed drummer and orchestra leader, knows that his good head of hair is a real asset. He naturally consults and takes treatments from John E. Warner Associates—as have so many other leaders in the business, amusement and professional worlds. Says Gene Krupa of John E. Warner Associates, "Your honest advice and treatments are widely known to musicians as the best available anywhere." Each week hundreds of men are saving and improving their hair through treatments in some of the largest and best equipped offices of this kind in the world. If your hair and scalp show the symptoms of approaching baldness, such as excessive loss of hair, dandruff, itchy, oily or very dry scalp, you should in your own best interests consult these experts before it is too late. No case is ever accepted for treatment unless beneficial results are reasonably certain. There is no charge or obligation for a private examination and consultation. The new Chicago offices of the John E. Warner Associates are conveniently located, Suite 1320-24, North American Building, 36 S. State, northwest corner of State and Monroe. CENtral 1451. Hours 10 A. M. to 8 P. M., daily. Saturdays to 6 P. M. Fees for treatments are very moderate and are paid for as the treatments are taken. There is a separate department for women. Other offices in Boston, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Detroit.

Infectious Dandruff
more than 7 out of 10
IMPROVED IN CLINICAL TEST

Such a delightful, easy, stimulating treatment! Just douse Listerine Antiseptic on the scalp, morning and night, and follow with vigorous and persistent massage.

Listerine, the same germicide which has been famous for more than 50 years as an antiseptic gargle, kills millions of germs on scalp and hair, including Pityrosporum Ovale recognized by outstanding specialists as a causative agent of infectious-type dandruff.

This germ-killing action, we believe, helps to explain why, in a clinical test, 76% of dandruff sufferers—7 out of every 10!—showed either complete disappearance of or marked improvement in the symptoms of dandruff within a month.

KENNEDY CALLS ON CITIZENS TO PROTECT RIGHTS

Duty of People Is Clear, Ex-Envoy Says.

Notre Dame, Ind., June 1 [Special].—Telling the graduating class of 621 seniors and 5,000 guests that the duty of every American became clear when President Roosevelt declared an unlimited national emergency, Joseph P. Kennedy, former United States ambassador to Great Britain, reminded them that in pledging allegiance Americans state clearly that constitutional rights of free speech, free assembly and freedom of religious worship shall be maintained in all respects.

"The builders of our supreme law," said Kennedy, "showed their profound wisdom in those sweet words of liberty enshrined in our priceless bill of rights. If we lost those freedoms, the framework of our government would indeed become a skeleton. Only too well do we know from the history of modern Europe how the silencing of the voice of protest was prelude to national disaster.

Ex-Envoy Suggests Formula.

"But in exercising that freedom of speech, which includes the right to criticism, we must try to approximate a formula of which conscience and patriotism must be the monitors.'

Kennedy said his formula for criticism was not to say anything that gives aid, comfort or information to the enemy, but to complain, when by the standard of experience or judgment, the actions or inactions of the government are imperiling the success of its defense.

"Freedom," Kennedy continued, "is an act of the will based upon truth. We must have the truth and the whole truth if we are to be free. The real test of the democratic processes comes with the stress and strain of crisis.

"We have witnessed in our lifetime the growth of a theory of living which denies every principle America holds dear. In the name of a 'new order' a small coterie of despots proclaim that they have the secret for the world of tomorrow. Their formula is not new to our church or to our civilization. It espouses the view that force of itself is the sole arbiter of right. On this false code have been based policies and programs which have laid waste a large part of the civilization of the world.

Cites Rights of Individuals.

"In America, however, our proclamation is clear. We believe that there are rights—the rights of the individual. We declare that they are absolute God-given rights which the majority and the state itself must respect.

"The shift of responsibility from the individual to government is an example of a dangerous trend. The world is on the move and against the tide of collectivism no one can raise an effective hand. But it is not against the mere growth of the state as a more effective agent for social justice that we protest; it is the spectacle of the state allocating to itself the exclusive right to judge the morality of its own conduct."

LAW'S EMBRACE MAKES BUDDIES OF 2 OLD FOES

Two Chicagoans who maintained a healthy shooting distance between each other for years took sanctuary in each other's companionship at the police showup yesterday.

The two are Big Joe Saltis, a prohibition era beer boss, and Sanford [The Gimp] Rosenbaum, one time bodyguard of Edward [Spike] O'Donnell, another beer boss of that era. Saltis and O'Donnell were enemies, and, therefore, so were Saltis and Rosenbaum. Saltis was arrested Wednesday for taking a shot at his wife and son. Rosenbaum was arrested yesterday on general principles when police saw him strolling in the loop.

At the showup the two said, yes, they knew each other all right.

"O," said Lieut. Dan Ahern. "Friends, eh?"

"Well," said Rosenbaum, grinning, "we're friends for now!"

CANADA TO HELP IN SHAPING PEACE, SAYS CHURCHILL

Promises Victory in Talk to Dominion.

LONDON, June 1 (AP).—Prime Minister Winston Churchill told Canadians tonight that the British empire, "with the old world and the new world together," would see the war thru to a victorious end and that Canada would "play her just part in the laying of the foundation of a wider and better world."

Broadcasting to the dominion in connection with the opening of Canada's $600,000,000 victory loan campaign, Churchill said Canada had given "abundant proof of her purpose" in aiding the fight by sending her men and supplies across the Atlantic.

Heirs of French Tradition.

"To Nazi tyrants and gangsters it must seem strange," he declared, "that Canada, free from compulsion, pressure, so many thousands of miles away, should hasten forward into the field of battle against the evil forces of the world.

"These wicked men cannot understand the deep currents of loyalty and tradition that flow between the different self-governing nations of the British empire.

"Canadians are the heirs of another tradition—the true tradition of France, the tradition of valor and faith which they keep alive in these dark days and which, we are confident, will, in the end, bring back again to life France herself."

Canada's Soldiers Praised.

Churchill said he had "never seen a finer body of troops" than Canada's overseas expeditionary force, and added:

"It has not fallen to them as yet to be engaged with the enemy, but they have been allotted a task of vital importance to play their part in the defense of the heart of the empire and to meet the enemy should he venture to come upon the very threshold of the land, and when the test comes, and if the test comes, and come it may, I know they will prove that they are the worthy sons of those who stormed Vimy Ridge 24 years ago."

[Canadian troops took Vimy Ridge in 1917, when British forces smashed at the Germans on a 10 mile front near Arras and Lens, France.]

Premier Pledges Fight to Finish.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 1 (AP).—Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King, speaking on a two-nation broadcast with Prime Minister Churchill of Britain tonight, warned Canadians not to expect victory in 1941. He declared Canadians are ready, "as long as the war may last," to do all in their power to insure victory.

CHICAGOAN, 27, SLAIN IN FIGHT WITH FBI AGENTS

Buffalo, N. Y., June 1 (AP).—Federal bureau of investigation agents killed a bank robbery suspect at noon today in a gun battle near Buffalo's downtown district.

The victim was identified as John Carl Archer, 27 years old, of Chicago. Police said he was one of five bandits who on May 14 held up the First National bank at Eldred, Pa., and escaped with more than $5,000.

Two FBI men, who had been informed Archer was living in a rooming house, started to question him as he entered an automobile, police said. Archer pulled a gun and fired thru the window of the car. The federal men returned the fire and Archer slumped over the wheel, dead.

1ST DIVISION VETS HOLD REUNION AT CANTIGNY FARM

Two hundred veterans of the 1st division, AEF, gathered at their annual reunion and outing yesterday on Cantigny farm near Wheaton. They were guests of Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE TRIBUNE.

The veterans played baseball, horseshoes, and other games and sat down to an outdoor meal which included barbecued beef and pork, baked potatoes, baked beans, pickles, relish, pie, coffee, cigars, and cigarets.

Many of the men rehashed the days of 1918 when their famous division participated in the fighting in France. Many of those present bore the scars of battle wounds. The division, which lost 6,000 men in the war, undertook the first offensive by American troops at Cantigny on May 28, 1918, and participated in five other major engagements.

U.S. 'LEASE-LEND' GOOD-AND BAD-TO NEW ZEALAND

Market Lost as England Gets Foods Free.

BY E. R. NODERER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

AUCKLAND, New Zealand, May 22 [By air mail].—America's lease-lend program has been both good and bad news to this island dominion of Great Britain.

It was good news because it bolstered the British empire in its battle against Germany, and New Zealanders declare they are prepared to make whatever sacrifice is necessary to win the war.

But it was bad news because it permits England to purchase almost unlimited quantities of foodstuff from America without the necessity of paying for it while the war lasts. Food is all New Zealand has to sell, and Britain has been her only important customer.

New Zealanders appear to understand Britain's position. Why, they ask themselves, should we expect Britain to send precious ships 12,000 miles to pick up supplies from us which must be paid for, when the same things can be obtained on the Atlantic coast, with payment deferred indefinitely?

Permanent Loss Feared.

Nevertheless, it is recognized that the loss of her markets for meat, butter, and fruit will be a serious blow to New Zealand economy as long as the war lasts. And in some quarters there is the fear that trade so established will extend into peacetime.

It is realized America has an abundance of many of the products that are the life blood of New Zealand's economy—butter, cheese, beef, lamb, mutton, and wool.

New Zealanders understand that Britain is trying to do its best for the outlying dominions, still, it is said here, the situation could hardly be more difficult.

Britain has not ceased buying here entirely, however. The mother country has agreed to purchase 248,000 tons of frozen lamb, mutton, and beef within the production year ending Sept. 30, 1941, as against 300,000 tons contracted for in the first year of the war. There seems to be some question, however, as to whether the necessary shipping will be available.

Dairying Faces About Face.

Britain does not want butter, which is piling up here, preferring to turn to margarine, the ingredients of which will keep without refrigeration. Cheese is wanted, and New Zealand has been urged to produce less butter and more cheese. This brings the country face to face with the problem of a major change in the dairy industry, involving new factory equipment, more and larger milk cans for which metal is lacking, and the necessity to train new workers for cheese producing plants.

Britain's purchase of 248,000 tons of meat will leave this country of 1,500,000 persons with a surplus of 100,000 tons this year. Some is expected to be canned, but a shortage of tin plate makes it doubtful that canning will be done on a large scale.

As much meat as possible will be placed in cold storage, the space for which has been increased from 5,500,000 cubic feet before the war, to 12,000,000 cubic feet.

Sheep Killing Checked.

In these circumstances, a check has been placed on the killing of sheep. This is regarded in trade circles as an advantage, since dominion flocks have been allowed to decrease in recent years, and it is felt they should be built up to prepare for the increased demand that is expected after the war.

In addition to the curtailment in meat shipments, New Zealand has to face a complete embargo on the export of apples and pears to Britain. The entire crop of 2,300,000 cases will have to be absorbed by the local market, whereas normally 1,250,000 cases are sent to England yearly. Last year the British took 587,000 cases, with the New Zealand government buying the entire output at fixed prices and disposing of the balance here. The cost of this operation has not been disclosed.

An intensive effort will be made this year to sell the fruit in case lots, and apples will be distributed free to school children, who now are receiving a free issue of milk.

FIND JENNY DOLLY HANGED IN HOME ON WEST COAST

Famous Dancing Star Was 48 Years Old.

Hollywood, Cal., June 1 [Special].—Jenny Dolly, member of the once internationally famous Dolly Sisters dancing team, was found dead by hanging today in her luxurious apartment. She left no notes, but police believed it was a suicide.

The dark eyed Hungarian dancer was 48 years old. In private life she was Mrs. Bernard W. Vinissky, wife of a Chicago lawyer. They were married in 1935, but separated six months ago, friends said.

JENNY DOLLY.

Two hours before Miss Dolly's body was found, she telephoned her aunt, Mrs. Frieda Bakos, complaining of illness. She also called the home of her sister, Rosie, wife of Irving Netcher, Chicago department store executive.

Mrs. Bakos hurried to Miss Dolly's apartment. It was locked. The building manager opened the door, revealing Miss Dolly's body hanging in a sunlit window.

Depressed by Crash Scars.

Police believe the dancer's death was motivated by depression over facial and other injuries which she incurred in a motor accident in France in February, 1933. She had spent three years in and out of hospitals and a sizable fortune for plastic surgery.

According to Mrs. Bakos, Miss Dolly often remarked: "The doctors didn't do me any favor by saving my life."

The Dolly sisters were twins. They first appeared as a dancing team in 1909, and for nearly two decades were the toast of continental and American theaters.

Sells Jewels at Auction.

Four years ago she sold her famous collection of jewels at auction for $300,000.

Her first husband was Jerome Schwartz. Her second was Harry Fox. In 1932 she adopted two girls, Clarika and Manzi.

DENIES THEY'D SEPARATED.

Bernard W. Vinissky, Chicago lawyer and husband of Jenny Dolly, expressed shock last night at news of his wife's death. "I received a cheerful letter from her only three days ago," he said. He denied they were separated. He said Miss Dolly left Chicago for California last December because of ill health. He too has been ill and unable to visit her, he added. They corresponded regularly, he said.

Vinissky and Miss Dolly were married in Chicago June 29, 1935. On March 4, 1937, an unidentified crank temporarily blinded her by throwing pepper into her eyes. This incident, as well as ill health, prompted her removal to the west coast, Vinissky said.

WIND UPSETS BOAT IN WYOMING LAKE 4 DROWN; 1 ESCAPES

Laramie, Wyo., June 1 (AP).—The drowning of four persons in Lake Hattie, 25 miles west of Laramie, was reported tonight by a fifth member of the party who survived a night of clinging to an overturned boat in the chilly waters.

Sheriff Ed L. Wood said the body of Mrs. B. M. Woodruff, Laramie, was found on the shore of the lake. Her husband, the survivor, listed the other victims as Mr. and Mrs. Bert Shoemaker of Fort Collins, Colo., and John Graff of Laramie. Their bodies have not been found.

According to Woodruff all clung to the boat when wind upset it. He said he put on a life preserver and supported his wife. Then a wave tossed all five away from the boat. After reaching shore with her he went for help. It was not determined whether Mrs. Woodruff drowned before she reached shore or died from exposure.

Finds a Miniature Bomb, Lights It; Burned in Blast

Frank Trombley, 39 years old, a painter, suffered burns on his hands yesterday when a homemade miniature bomb which he had found exploded in his home at 5101 Kimbark avenue. Police believed the tiny bomb was made from a cartridge used to charge water. Trombley applied a lighted match to it to see what would happen. The explosion followed.

37TH WARD WILL VOTE TOMORROW ON AN ALDERMAN

Keeney and Callahan in a Spirited Contest.

A vigorous campaign for the alderman's post in the 37th ward, with Albert F. Keeney and Francis E. Callahan as the contestants, will end tomorrow with the counting of the ballots in a special election. The vacancy was created by the resignation of Roger J. Kiley, who is now a judge of the Superior court.

Albert F. Keeney [top] and Francis E. Callahan.

Keeney is backed by the organized Republicans of the ward. He has been in the real estate business on the west side for 46 years and was alderman of the old 27th ward from 1899 to 1903. Later he served a term as state representative.

Callahan Veteran in Politics.

Callahan is being given the support of the Democratic organization. He is also a veteran in politics. At present he is city superintendent of sidewalks.

The Keeney campaign is being managed by former Judge George A. Curran. Yesterday Curran charged that the Democrats were using unfair methods against his candidate.

Brands Charges False.

Callahan declared there was no truth in the charges and contended many regular Republicans were helping him.

Another council seat will be filled by election tomorrow in the 24th ward, but there is no contest. The only candidate is County Commissioner Fred J. Fischman. This place was made vacant when Maj. J. M. Arvey resigned to accompany his military unit, the 33d division, to Camp Forrest, Tenn.

INCENDIARY FIRE SWEEPS LUMBER AND OIL PLANT

Norfolk, Va., June 1 (AP).—Three fires, declared by Fire Chief E. J. Cannon to have been of incendiary origin, kept all available fire apparatus busy for two hours tonight and caused requests for assistance to be sent to the Norfolk navy yard and naval operating base.

Damage of $75,000 was caused at the M. T. Blassingham Lumber Co. The plant is filling orders for armament projects.

A fire occurring shortly afterward at the Hurst Wholesale Oil company destroyed 1,000 gallons of oil, a truck, and other equipment. Damage was estimated at $15,000. Lesser damage was caused at the plant of the Dr. Pepper Bottling Works.

Loss Set at 25 Millions.

Jersey City, N. J., June 1 [Special.]—Fire which burned on the Jersey City waterfront from 5 p. m. yesterday until 3 p. m. today destroyed an eight story grain elevator, a pier, and the stockyards with a loss of well over 25 million dollars, according to Fire Chief Frank Ertle. Four square blocks are in ruins.

The fire started in a hayloft in the stockyards and destroyed 400 head of hogs and cattle before it was brought under control. After leveling the grain elevator, the flames leaped a water gap to destroy a warehouse filled with coffee, rubber, creosote, and alcohol. Four barges were burned to the waterline.

BARRETT TELLS NEW JOBLESS FUND RACKETS

A new easy money system that has sprung up under one of the forms of social legislation enacted in recent years was disclosed yesterday by George F. Barrett, attorney general of Illinois.

Under this scheme, he said, a stenographer, a clerk, or some other worker in the lower wage brackets might meet the requirements of the unemployment compensation act and then take it easy for 16 weeks on the money paid by the state.

Barrett said cases have been reported in which the offenders worked only long enough to earn the $1,054 total required for the maximum compensation, then provoked their employers into discharging them, and thereafter had 16 week vacations during which they received $256 from the state.

"We are making a thoro inquiry," he said. "As the investigation proceeds we shall seek two forms of redress. One will be to stop the payments in suspected cases where they have not been completed. The other will be to seek to recover the money fraudulently collected."

HER $1,000 RING DISAPPEARS.

Mrs. Lee Ablin of 959 Foster avenue, reported to police yesterday that her $1,000 diamond ring disappeared from her purse while she and her husband, Samuel, were on their way home from Ablin's tavern at 714 North Clark street.

LA SALLE HAVING A HOT TIME OVER DAYLIGHT TIME

La Salle, Ill., June 1 [Special].—For some residents of this community of 13,000 time marched on today: For others it stood still. Those for whom time marched on followed the lead of the city council and turned their clocks ahead one hour to save an hour of daylight. The others stuck to central standard time.

Mayor H. M. Orr.

A finish fight on the time question is due tomorrow night when the council meets. Mayor H. M. Orr, who has been in office for 16 years and just starting another four year term, has threatened to veto the action of eight councilmen who passed the daylight saving ordinance last week when he was absent.

The council majority of eight said the meeting will be called at 7:30 p. m. daylight saving time. Mayor Orr said it would be called at 7:30 p. m. standard time. Three members of the council voted against saving daylight. The majority say that Mayor Orr will be too late to do anything about the time change if he sticks to standard time because their meeting will be over by the time he reaches the council chamber.

Both proponents and opponents of the time change insist they only are trying to please the women of the community. The proponents say the women want time for recreation and some left over so they can go out in the evening with their husbands.

Nurse Dies in Hotel Room After Drinking Disinfectant

Miss Blanche Stanek, 35 years old, a nurse at the Woodlawn hospital, was found dead last night in her room at the Fort Dearborn hotel. Police said she had swallowed a quantity of disinfectant. She registered at the hotel Friday. Hospital officials told police Miss Stanek lived at the hospital, where she had worked for four years. She was granted a week's leave due to illness, they said.

COUSIN OF SLAIN PAROLEE ADMITS 14 BANDIT RAIDS

Fourteen filling station holdups in the last two weeks were confessed yesterday by Darrel Eib, a cousin of Clifford Eib, a parolee who was shot and killed by a policeman Sunday in an attempted robbery.

Darrel Eib, who is 20 years old and lives at 1120 North Raynor avenue, Joliet, said he and his cousin robbed six filling stations in one night a week ago and used the money to buy liquor. Police ascertained he was not with his cousin at the time of the shooting.

Clifford Eib, who was 24 and lived at 3434 Broadway, was killed by Policeman George Schaefer of the Desplaines street station when he attempted to rob Harold Boehl, 2455 North Albany avenue, in a filling station at 911 Washington boulevard. The bandit was paroled from Pontiac reformatory March 31. He was serving a sentence for robbery.

Defense Costly to Railroads, Too

ILLINOIS CENTRAL

One of the requirements of our national defense program is considerably increased rail transportation. In the long run, if the demand persists, that MAY mean increased net earnings for the railroads; but FIRST AND FOREMOST it calls for increased expenditures to expand facilities to handle the rise in traffic.

The extent of the total defense demand is hard to predict, and it is complicated by such unexpected and often untimely developments as cessations and increases in production resulting from strikes, the withdrawal of ocean carriers from coastwise trade and the necessity of moving crops from storage right at harvest time.

American railroads are adding approximately 100,000 new freight cars this year. The Illinois Central alone has placed 745 in service so far this year and has 2,515 more on order. These and allied improvements run into money, and that money must be provided BEFORE the added investment has a chance to earn any return.

What that means to the Illinois Central may be seen in the following: For the first four months of 1941, this railroad netted from its operations $3,484,988. In the same period, however, it undertook improvements costing $17,254,307, part of which had to be borrowed.

The Illinois Central will spend to the limit FOR NATIONAL DEFENSE. Other expenditures will have to take their turn.

Save Our Republic

NO LONGER THE "POOR BLOODY INFANTRY."

The current Infantry Journal reprints an account by an officer of the British Indian army of his experience in the final stages of the Norwegian campaign. It contains a valuable contribution to American military thought, because its picture of the gallant but ineffectual British improvisation—ignoring both the arms and the training necessary to operations in unusual terrain—has numerous parallels in our own military history.

This officer was one of 20 detached from the Indian army to serve with hastily organized companies designed to wage guerrilla warfare in Norway. The German guerrilla tactics had already been so successful as to force the British to evacuate their footholds in southern and central Norway. There is precious little resemblance between the bare, arid peaks of the Indian northwest frontier and the forested, snow covered mountains which in Norway dip down to the sea, but to the brass hats in Norway, apparently, a mountain was a mountain. In the haste with which the effort was organized little more attention seems to have been paid to equipment than to leadership.

"The men were issued Alpine rucksacks, snowshoes, leather jerkins, and sheepskin coats," says the author. "The rucksacks proved to be extremely useful, but as no one knew how to use snowshoes, and there was insufficient transportation for the sheepskin coats, these were soon abandoned."

Compare this picture with his description of the German training and equipment:

"Their men were very fit and hard, and were used according to their special aptitudes—those who were accustomed to hills and to snow were used widest on the flanks, and so on. They do not delude themselves that all infantry are equal, or even that all men given the same type of training will make the same type of infantryman. Their men were specially armed for forest and hill fighting. In place of heavy automatics [and a Bren is very heavy halfway up a steep hill!] they had machine carbines, and in place of artillery they had grenades and numerous mortars. Our men were outwalked, outweaponed, outnumbered, and finally outflanked."

And so the British lost. They fought gallantly, and against odds, some of which they need not have faced if they had had plans instead of improvisation; but they lost. Summing up their experience, the anonymous author says:

"If our civilians are a race of shopkeepers, our soldiers are a race of plumbers—they come, and then go back for their tools. It was, however, the first campaign which proved certain fundamentals of this war. One cannot fight without air equality; one shouldn't without air superiority. The battlefield is no place for any man who has not been trained to take a pride in his endurance, his hardness, and his independence of all comfort. Infantry is no longer a generic term for an armed soldier who has no horse, nor can infantry be armed and trained to fight successfully anywhere. The German infantry, who needed machine carbines, had them; those who had snowshoes could use them, they were specialists in Norwegian warfare, not just PBI—'poor bloody infantry'."

In addition to painstaking planning as to equipment, tactics, and information, it is now known that the Germans owed their Norwegian success in considerable measure to the fact that they used soldiers familiar with the mountains—Bavarians and Tyrolese.

That is a procedure that our own army will do well to follow in training troops for fighting on specialized terrain. It has not done so in the past. There is no more brilliant chapter in our military history than the defense of the Lost Battalion in the Argonne, but if the whole AEF had been canvassed it is improbable that another group of soldiers could have been found less adapted by their peacetime experience to fight in a tangled forest than the men from the sidewalks of New York, who made up the bulk of that gallant battalion.

Our draft army contains men from every type of country except the tropical. If drafted troops are organized according to their geographical origin, their knowledge can be utilized in training them for special missions.

INVASION BY BUS.

Chicagoans can hardly be unaware of the fact that the city has been invaded in recent weeks by an army converging upon us in orange colored buses. The educational authorities out in the country seem all at once to have discovered that their school buses can travel across county and even state lines. Whole classes are being driven into Chicago to spy out the museums, the industries, and whatever else we have.

One citizen after passing three or four of these scouting parties along the Outer drive said it looked to him as if the hardy hill tribes were once again about to take the lowland softies. Certainly the youngsters are looking us over with eager eyes and if they decide they want what we have, there's no doubt they'll get it. To them we are wide open as we have always been to their kind.

Outside the ape house in Lincoln park the other morning was a bus which bore a sign announcing that this was the conveyance of the Social Problems Class of the Hector High school of Hector, Minn. There aren't many social problems which can't be explained by Prof. Bushman and his champanzee and orangutan colleagues in the Lincoln park faculty. The problems began when we came down from the treetops and maybe they won't be solved until we get back. The speed which is presently being made in that direction invites the thought in Hector, Minn. and elsewhere that maybe the worst is about over.

THE AFTERMATH OF THE FIREWORKS CHAT.

It would appear that Mr. Roosevelt realizes that his war speech fell dead. It pancaked. The people were not stunned by his picture of their perils. They recognized the danger as one which does not exist and the unlimited emergency as something of an unlimited absurdity.

The Nazis, in Mr. Roosevelt's war propaganda, are an immediate threat to the western hemisphere. He said they have the military power to occupy Spain and Portugal and are bringing a threat "to the Atlantic fortress of Dakar and the island outposts of the new world—the Azores and Cape Verde islands." The war, he said, "is coming very close to home."

British sea control had just been demonstrated. A ship the Germans thought was the most powerful afloat had been sunk as it attempted to enter the North Atlantic. When Mr. Roosevelt undertook to tell the country that the western hemisphere is in imminent danger of Nazi invasion the people knew he was trying to play on their fears. Two navies said there was no unlimited emergency or any other kind. The greatest of all now is the American navy. It is ridiculous to tell the nation it is in the immediate peril which would justify the war alarms concocted for deceitful purposes.

Mr. Roosevelt repeated his statement that the Atlantic is the graveyard of supplies intended for Great Britain. "The battle of the Atlantic," he said, "now extends from the icy waters of the north pole to the frozen continent of the ant-arctic. Thruout this huge area there have been sinkings of merchant ships in alarming and increasing numbers by Nazi raiders or submarines."

The best reports obtainable by congress indicate that the loss of ships clearing from ports in the United States has been small. Admiral Land of the maritime commission revealed that his records showed only 8 of 205 such vessels had been sunk in the first three months of this year. Other figures put the total number of such ships lost for the entire period of the war at 28.

It does not suit Mr. Roosevelt as the head of the war party to trim his alarms down to the size of the facts. If he did he would not have any emergency except emergencies he can find at home and has made. The speech didn't click. People who had been keeping their heads didn't lose them. People who were not for war didn't change their minds. A sense of failure may have led to the subsequent drive to frighten the people.

Mayor La Guardia followed up Mr. Roosevelt's proclamation by proclaiming on his own hook. He proclaimed that "all residents of New York adhere to the requirements of said proclamation and adjust themselves to the state of emergency existing." Such of the residents as have retained a measure of sanity may be looking about for methods of adjustment to whatever is to be adhered to.

The mayor does not give them much help aside from demanding unstinted support of the government "to the extent of personal sacrifice." The Little Wild Flower's output is a part of the concerted drive against the intelligence and common sense of the country. It has appeared in many quarters. It is officially inspired and directed. It is intended to create the impression that the nation is at war and that it may be attacked at any moment.

The Memorial day "alert" in the army camps, the ports, munitions plants, and other spots where it might scare some one seems to have been a part of the alarm campaign. J. Edgar Hoover of the federal bureau of investigation is darkly ominous about sabotage plots and officials of various cities have been warned.

An attempt is made to create a war atmosphere by telling the people that they must be ready to use less electricity and less gasoline, by suggesting that food rations may be imposed, and by collecting pots and pans in house to house visitations. All is intended to stir the blood, play on emotions and fears, and break down the common sense.

Have we ever before known such a determined attempt by government to drag the nation into war? Have methods ever been so unscrupulous, falsifications so obvious, and intent so pernicious?

Editorial of the Day

[Tulsa Tribune.]

On the night of April 14, 1912, the brand new, "unsinkable" White Star liner Titanic ran full speed into an iceberg in the North Atlantic and went down quickly. On Nov. 12, 1928, the Lamport & Holt liner Vestris gently foundered off the Virginia capes in broad daylight for no better reason than that its hull contained too many slow leaks. If the United States government ever goes under we believe it will go down, not like the Titanic, but like the Vestris. It is menaced not so much by disaster from the outside as by leakage from within.

Best evidence of this is the fact that in the face of the nation's fabulous national defense budget both congress and the administration are apparently totally unable or unwilling to cut nondefense expenditures. Thus the current budget calls for relief appropriations equal to approximately 78 per cent of the same appropriations in 1938, altho the labor department estimates that unemployment will be cut in half.

Next year the federal government will spend about $500,000,000 for new public buildings and roads, just as tho nothing unusual were in the air. The National Youth administration will continue competing with the CCC and the office of education for enrollees. Aids to agriculture are budgeted for $1,061,000,000, only $45,000,000 less than last year, in spite of the fact that 1941 farm income is nearing the 1929 level. The senate appropriations committee actually voted a $445,000,000 increase in farm bounties above budget recommendations.

Total nondefense expenditures for this year which, under present conditions, are unnecessary, amount to about two billion dollars. Two billion dollars equals the sum total of individual and corporation federal income taxes received in 1939. It would build 208 destroyers or 8,000 heavy bombers.

A political machine that has built its strength by passing out cash favors to the voters cannot maintain itself without handouts. The New Deal is that kind of a machine. It has collected a vast and powerful army of federal jobholders who do not want their jobs eliminated. However much the nation is strained by the defense emergency, the adagio dance troops, the free fertilizer, the new postoffices, and the complimentary copies of such government publications as "How to Freeze Ice Cream" and "How to Trap Mountain Lions" must go on.

These are little leaks—tiny little leaks such as passed unnoticed in the hull of the Vestris. But the ship of state is already showing signs of becoming waterlogged. Its bridge is crowded with fiery "men of destiny," busy steering it into the greatest storm in history. But there aren't any caulkers in the hold.

MR. PEPYS HEARS A VOICE.

2nd June—Was out walking with my dog one night last week, seeking coolness, when suddenly an unearthly sound began to reverberate across the vacant lots; and when I walked further, thinking to escape it, lo, it was the same as before, and I said to myself, "Maybe this is the voice of doom of which I have read in the prophecies." Then I came to my senses and understood it was the voice of the President at his fireside chat, blaring from dwelling places that had windows open on account of the sultriness.

Thought maybe I should go home now and hear what he had to say from my own juke box, and then decided if I did so I would probably feel hotter than before, so I waited until I could read the speech in the papers. But it was an uncanny feeling that one man's voice should be heard over all the land, not only at the firesides but also in the streets and open spaces.

Fumed and fretted thru those three hot days, thinking that never before did I put on my tropical clothes in May. Have never been much of a hand to complain about the weather, always saying I could take it either way, hot or cold, and, looking down upon people who ran away from the weather, calling them feeble aristocrats unworthy of their stalwart ancestors who built this town. Yet last week I became peevish and wanted to depart for the shores of Hudson bay, in the far north, which is said to have an invigorating climate at this time of year.

SERENADE TO JUNE.

Ah, June, you are my beloved,
So fair and richly dressed,
With wine-red roses in your hair
And jewels on your breast.

Fling open your vine-wreathed casement
Tonight when the thrush's notes
First sound o'er the wooded upland
And the lake where the cygnet floats;

And come to me in the garden,
For I would speak of love,
Where diamonds gleam beneath my feet

O, I would make haste in wooing,
For I know 'tis a small, small while
That I may stand in your beauty,
That I may bask in your smile.

For love never treats me kindly,
And I know the choking pain
That follows the fleeting summer
When I face the autumnal rain.

So come to me, my beloved,
Into the dew-splashed night,
That I may hold you to me
And reck not of Time's grim flight.

A Few of Chicago's Blue Laws.

Out of town Line readers expecting to visit Chicago this summer should take notice that, according to the city's municipal code, the following acts are illegal:

To carry a slingshot concealed about the person [193-1].

To wear, on a street car or elevated train, a hatpin projecting more than one-half inch from the crown of the hat [193-11].

To sleep in a laundry [145-12].

To fly kites in any public place [36-40].

To appear dressed in clothes of the opposite sex [192-8].

Castle in Chicagoland.

Have you seen that castle on the hill overlooking route 14, near Fox River Grove? Each stone in those parapets was taken from the surrounding land and cemented in place by the "confirmed" bachelor from Luxemburg who lives there. Remembering the ancient castle of his native village, he started constructing his own miniature version. Now, after 20 years of effort, he has an abode which attracts sightseers.

Everything about it is charming, from the quiet road winding up the hill to the goldfish in the moat beneath the drawbridge. The living quarters, adequate for a lone dweller, are built over the garage. The huge stone fireplace and the smoothness of the wood finished interior are notable. Florence Bos.

PLEA TO ST. GEORGE.

The dread sea-dragons ride again—
Gray submarines, controled by men.

They thread the deep sea lanes and form
A ghastly substitute for storm.

Their eggs explode. Torpedoed, there
Are mangled victims everywhere.

A bomber, like St. George of old,
Attacks the dragon, fold on fold,

With death-stroke deep; yet, still alive,
The dragon spawn will spring, and thrive.

Who then shall clear the land and sea
Of devil-spawn and cruelty?

What knight shall rise to battle for
The Lord and slay the dragon—War?

THE OVERWEIGHT YOUNGSTER.

THE chubby youngster may be regarded as typifying superb health. Parents pride themselves on the fact that their Johnny's digestion is perfect. The lad may appear so robust that the suggestion that he is too heavy may seem out of place.

Now, this opinion may be completely justified. In other words, obesity in our little ones may carry no importance. In the majority of cases, however, it may point to a substantial handicap—at least to the emotions. Every one resents the nickname, "Fatty." It usually signifies a rolypoly, indolent boy or girl who may be the butt of many practical jokes. Girls particularly realize that they are not nearly so popular nor attractive as their more slender sisters. In some instances, we may look upon this excess weight as responsible for behavior problems which may influence mental development. No doubt there are exceptions, but it occurs often enough to warrant attention.

We all like to see well nourished children, but when the poundage is 20 per cent or more above the average for height and age, it may be considered abnormal. Not infrequently, the factors of growth are responsible. The victim may tower head and shoulders above others in his or her school grade. The bones are larger and the lad is bigger in every way. But he is generally ungainly, which means that his muscles have not been trained to carry the extra load which he is obliged to tote around. He can't run as fast or jump as well, and he may be outmaneuvered on the playground by his more nimble companions. This may lead to a decrease in exercise which, in turn, adds to his avoirdupois.

When is this marked increase in size likely to appear? Usually between the 8th and 12th years. Sometimes the tendency will be observed shortly after recovery from scarlet fever, whooping cough, or some other ailment. The appetite suddenly becomes voracious, particularly for starchy foods.

We must recall that there are two kinds of obesity. The first arises from overeating and the second probably from misbehavior on the part of the endocrine glands. If relief is to be expected, every youngster must be studied individually and not as a representative of a given type.

There are but few alterations in gland functions that can be made. Only when the thyroid fails to operate as it should can we add its potent chemicals to the diet. But this powerful extract must be employed cautiously. It will take off weight, but it can be harmful. We must be absolutely sure that it is needed and that it is not continued long enough to injure the factory itself.

Many a lad will go thru this podgy period for a year or two, or until puberty brings the changes incident to budding manhood. The adipose tissue will then melt away with consequent gain in strength and alertness. This is due to the internal secretions of the sex glands which are bursting into flower.

There seems to be every reason to protect children who take too much food. Piecing between meals is easy to correct. After all, eating is self-gratification and everything that mother puts on the table may taste so good. With tact and the employment of some non-nutritious edibles, instead of those loaded with calories, a transformation may be accomplished without the sense of gnawing hunger. A pitiful sight is a misshapen girl—the victim of an indulgent mother.

Exercise should be encouraged and a bicycle is about the best vehicle because walking may be shunned. For a time, at least, the feet cannot stand it.

Finally, we must not forget that we are the offspring of our parents, and no program of this sort can alter heredity. There are fat families and lean ones. Perhaps Johnny belongs to the former.

CROW'S FEET.

A. Z. writes: What causes crow's feet around the eyes in a younger person?

REPLY.

The tissue about the eyes [particularly the skin] is extremely elastic and can be lifted away from its bed. There is very little padding material [fat]. This explains why fine wrinkles or puffiness may develop. The causes include lack of sleep or neglect of the rules of good hygiene. Gentle massage with any sterile face cream will be helpful.

DREAMER.

Mrs. M. writes: I dream all night long and when I get up in the morning I am tired and listless. Do you suppose I have a lazy thyroid?

REPLY.

I doubt it—probably a sluggish colon. Arrange your eating schedule so that the largest meal comes in the middle of the day. The evening repast should be light with nothing at bedtime. Drink plenty of water both before breakfast and after meals. This should allay considerable reflex irritation from the digestive tract.

NIGHT SWEATS.

T. R. writes: What do night sweats in a healthy adult indicate?

REPLY.

Ill health rather than health. If one is normal in every respect, the symptom will not appear. A search should be made for a possible infection or nervous stimulation of the sweat glands from some toxin—for example, that produced by the tubercle bacillus. In women, the menopause may be responsible. Of course, too many covers and poor ventilation are possibilities.

NOISY SHOP.

S. J. writes: I am employed in a machine shop which is very noisy. Do you think cotton in the ears would help? Does such an atmosphere affect the hearing?

REPLY.

There is some evidence that exposure to loud and persistent noises, for a long period of time, will dull hearing. Cotton plugs will act as partial shock absorbers. Such devices, however, should be loose rather than firm. They should not be crowded deeply into the canal.

ANGINA.

G. H. writes: What is "tobacco angina?"

REPLY.

Angina is characterized by intense pain in the chest—regardless of the cause. No special variety is attributed to tobacco. The weed, however, may narrow the caliber of certain arteries and thus contribute to distress.

INFANT'S MENTALITY.

F. G. writes: At what age can it be determined whether an infant is normal mentally?

REPLY.

As a rule, about the 18th month.

UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION.

Chicago, May 21.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I have been employed by a large hotel for the last year and a half and was ill with the "flu" for about two weeks when I decided the work was too much for me and wrote in my resignation.

When I applied to the unemployment compensation board I could not get compensation because [1] my employer stated my position was still waiting for me.

I secured a doctor's certificate stating I was unable to work, [2] especially at the hotel where the switchboard is too high, and the doctor says I am not to reach high but if it were a smaller board I could take it. Can I collect compensation in any way? My salary last year was $827.44. M. P. R.

1. This would mean you would not be entitled to unemployment compensation.

2. As we understand it, your trouble is you are physically incapacitated rather than you are unemployed in the ordinary sense. You might take the matter up with the administrative officials.

The Illinois Unemployment Compensation Act [as amended in 1939] defines "base period" as "the 12 consecutive month period ending December 31, immediately preceding the first day of a benefit year." [Sec. 2 (i).]

Section 4 [b] states that "An individual's 'weekly benefit amount' shall be an amount equal to 5 per centum of his total wages for insured work during that quarter of his base period in which such total wages were highest," but not more than $16.00 nor less than $7.00.

Section 4 [c] fixes a maximum per year of "whichever is the lesser of 16 times his weekly benefit amount or one-fourth of the wages earned by him for insured work during his base period. In both cases odd cents are increased to make even dollars.

The act applies only to employers of eight or more thru 1939, or of six or more in 1940 and thereafter. [Sec. 2 (e).] An employe who quits without good cause must wait five weeks. [Sec. 7].

Excepted occupations are similar to the lists in the Federal Social Security act. There is a waiting period of two weeks before benefit payments begin. [Sec. 6 (d).] The act is administered by the State Department of Labor, 222 W. North Bank drive. There are 19 local and suburban offices in the Chicago area.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

JOINT ACCOUNTS.

Chicago, June 1.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My father passed away recently leaving a will dividing his estate equally between his wife, my brother, and myself.

1. Two bank accounts, one in Florida and one in Wisconsin, remain.

2. A safety deposit box in Wisconsin with his wife's name on also remains.

3. Does that give her exclusive right to these?

4. Do they go in the estate? He provided for her outside of these and we felt that he intended this in the divided estate. M. D.

1. If the bank accounts were in joint tenancy as distinguished from merely being in two names, then the surviving joint tenant would take all.

2. The mere fact that two persons have access to a safety deposit box would not be enough to prove that the survivor owned the contents.

3. The facts stated would not be conclusive.

4. See 3.

CONVOYING: WHOSE DUTY?

Chicago, May 26.—Doesn't it seem strange to you that in all we hear and read on the subject of convoying, nothing ever seems to be said that, if there is to be any convoying whatever, why should it not be done by the English navy, the largest navy in the world and the most powerful?

The United States is furnishing Great Britain war materiels for its defense and, I understand, free of cost. Why should the United States in addition even be considered in connection with the matter of convoying that war materiel? The English navy is now at war with Germany, the United States navy is not, but the moment the United States navy is used for convoying ships carrying war materiels to Great Britain, it will be fired upon and the United States will then be at war.

The question is: Why shouldn't the English navy do its own convoying of the ships that are carrying war materiels for its defense? Why should there be any suggestion that the United States navy relieve the English navy and assume the responsibility of putting the United States in war?

I hope the suggestion of how to handle the convoying of ships will seem feasible and practical and meet with your encouragement.

WILLIAM NELSON PELOUZE.

AMERICA THE BIG BROTHER.

Cairo, Ill., May 29.—Opponents of the administration say its leaders are war mongers, but they are mistaken. They hope to avoid war, but they are bent on saving democracy. The "bridge of boats" will doubtless be a reality, starting when the "arsenal of democracy," is sufficiently full to be effective.

But the "bridge of boats" may not bring war. It will extend, most likely, only to Greenland, in our care, then to Britain in her care, using her own, or loaned boats, and loaned boats, being owned boats in law, no laws will be violated. America has always been a home of the homeless, and can be a "big brother" now if it chooses. The aggressors will have to start war if it starts.

C. S. B.

LA GUARDIA'S THREAT.

Chicago, May 29.—If we cannot object to our entry into this war and are not given a voice thru referendum on this vital issue we have lost freedom of speech at home before we enter the war. How then can any one ask us to fight for the preservation of free speech.

Mayor La Guardia's speech makes any objector to war a fifth columnist. To this implied threat and suggestion of name-calling, funnyman La Guardia, we have only this to say: The more you try to silence us the more we shall be heard. C. A. S.

WOULD ALTER THE SONG.

Porter, Ind., May 29.—If the New Deal administration, now forcing the country into a foreign war, has the same success in running a war as it has had in running the government and balancing budgets for the last eight long years, we had better start singing "God Help America," instead of "God Bless America."

A. V. OLSON.

A PUZZLED CITIZEN.

Chicago, May 28.—What puzzles me is how a man who doesn't know why his own son went to Egypt would know so much about what Hitler intends to do.

CONFUSED.

PERVERTING THE SCRIPTURES.

HIGH RIVER, Alta., Canada, May 26.—Here in Canada there still is doubt in men's minds about Bible teachings on warfare. The passage quoted against it is: Matt. v: xxxix, "Smiting on the cheek."

Here we are told to turn the other—not some one else's, but our own. Personal injury is not to be resisted by the Christian, but injury to another, is a different matter. Most people can stand injury done to others very well, but when the blow falls on our own nose then our "blood boils" and we are ready for revenge.

Defending the weak is not revenge. So that clergymen who quote this text against warfare are perverting the scriptures. Any child can see this.

There are still a lot of ignorant and perverted preachers who use the Bible as a screen for cowardice, pro-Nazi sympathies and their own half dedicated lives. MARY WILKINSON.

SAYS BRITISH DO NEED HELP.

Chicago, May 29—Your cartoon on President Roosevelt's talk was not true. You illustrate the sinking of the German battleship Bismarck by 11 vessels of the British navy and you say "they" [the British] "don't seem to need much help."

For the benefit of the readers I would like to say that these ships used in the battle with the Bismarck, were taken from the Mediterranean sea thus causing: 1. The waters around the Island of Crete to be habitable for German transport ships.

2. The waters from German occupied Greece to Libya to be clear of all British big surface ships and thus enabling supplies to get, without much hindrance, to Italo-German forces.

Thus it seems conclusive that the British "don't seem to need much help" is the bunk. L. B. S.

SUGGESTION TO THE SOUTH.

Omaha, Neb., May 28.—After listening to Mr. Roosevelt's speech I heard a senatorial candidate down in Texas, who apparently is running against Hitler. He castigated fellow Democrats such as Bennett Clark and Burton K. Wheeler and declared himself in favor of democracy, both with a big and little "D" except, of course in Texas where voting is limited to the chosen few. I believe the country's big mistake was made when we did not let the south secede.

But how about extending the franchise to American citizens in the south before taking on the job of reforming the whole world? Or is that one of the questions we cannot ask now? A. S. COLLINS.

INTO THE DISCARD.

Chicago, May 29.—With what great glee does our President ridicule the Americans of the "horse and buggy" days.

"Don't fire until you see the whites of their eyes" was a grand old command, typical of Yankee strategy and sagacity. It has thrilled millions of Americans, old and young.

BLITZKRIEG OF NOISE.

Chicago, May 29.—Why can't a law be enacted to prevent neighbors from carrying on a blitzkrieg of noise with their radio thru open windows? R. A. L.

HUGH WALPOLE, BRITISH WRITER AND KNIGHT, DIES

Author of Jeremy Books Was 57 Years Old.

LONDON, June 1 (AP).—Sir Hugh Walpole, the British novelist who wrote almost a book a year from the age of 25, died of a heart attack early today. He was 57 years old and had been ill for a week at his Lakeland home, Brackenburn, near Keswick in the Cumberland mountains.

Sir Hugh Walpole.

He was known in the United States not only by his "Jeremy" books and his "Herries" saga but for frequent lectures, visits and a stay on the west coast. He was knighted in 1937.

In his novel "Roman Fountain," published last year, Walpole recalled an occasion when Adolf Hitler wept. He met Hitler in Bayreuth in 1924 soon after Hitler had served a prison sentence for the Munich beer cellar putsch and had written "Mein Kampf."

Thought Hitler Sincere.

"I remember he cried," wrote Walpole, "and that I felt his passion for Germany so sincere it seemed to burn thru his ugly boots into the ground and that I liked him and thought him in every way tenth rate."

Walpole wrote almost to the end. One of his main contributions was to the regular book review section of a London newspaper. "I write as I breathe," he once remarked. "I never had any impulse but one, to put people down in words as I see them."

Compared to that of most authors, Walpole's career was a bed of roses, yet as a fledgling writer he was not without discouragement. "When I started as a writer every one was against me," he wrote. "I was told I had no creative gifts at all. But I didn't mind. There was never any question in my mind that I was going to be a novelist."

Born in New Zealand.

Walpole was born in New Zealand in 1884, the son of the Rt. Rev. G. H. S. Walpole, bishop of Edinburgh. He was educated in England and began his writing while working as a book reviewer in London.

A confirmed bachelor, Walpole toured the world, serving in the Russian Red Cross during the world war and at one time was a consultant in Hollywood on films with English themes.

Outwardly the most placid and composed of men he was actually a person of great exuberance.

He commented often on writing. "What I'm sure of now is that unless you have got the impulse very definitely I don't think taking up the profession of writing should be encouraged," he once said.

"My supreme piece of luck was in being completely fascinated by the work I was doing. I adore writing. If you can be absorbed in something you're doing, find enough in it to live on, then I think you're inevitably a happy man.

"Nothing is worse for an author than inactivity unless it is too much work which drives writers close to insanity."

INJURED WORKER TAKEN OFF ROOF BY USE OF CRANE

Firemen under Chief John Hamilton of the 24th battalion yesterday used a traveling crane with a 60 foot beam to remove Nicholas Callabrese, 19 years old, 832 South Bishop street, from the roof of a foundry at 4710 Division street, where he had been injured. Callabrese and other workmen had been cleaning skylights of the foundry when he slipped and suffered a pelvis fracture. Firemen were hesitant to take him down a ladder for fear of causing further injury, so the crane, used in the foundry yard, was employed. Callabrese was taken to St. Anne's hospital.

Mrs. Theodore Lewis, 51, Widow of Justice, Dies

Madison, Wis., June 1 (AP).—Mrs. Mabel Davidson Lewis, 51 years old, widow of Theodore C. Lewis, former justice of the state Supreme court, died in a hospital here last night. She was the daughter of the late James O. Davidson, lieutenant governor of Wisconsin under Robert La Follette Sr., and because governor after La Follette was elected to the United States senate by the state legislature in 1906.

Canadian, he was graduated from McGill university, Montreal, Que., in 1918, and later obtained a master's degree at the University of Chicago. He had taught at Joliet for 18 years.

Crash Victim, in Potter's Field, Identified by Photo

A woman who was killed May 4 in an automobile crash in front of 2278 Elston avenue, was identified last night thru pictures by her husband as Mrs. Florence Richards, 48 years old, 156 West Superior street. The husband, Wesley, 44, is a WPA laborer. Mrs. Richards was buried recently in potter's field. She was riding in a car with Walter and Victor Rhode, brothers, of 2623 North Troy street, when it struck a light pole.

Woman Fractures Skull in Leap from Automobile

Mrs. Grace Kiyoski, 33 years old, 339 East 136th street, Riverdale, suffered a skull fracture last night when, according to police, she jumped out of a moving automobile during a quarrel with her husband, Julius, over the opening of a car window. The leap occurred on route 7, just outside of Joliet. Mrs. Kiyoski was taken to the Silver Cross hospital there.

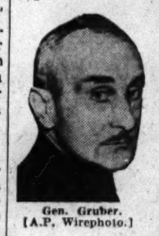
GRUBER'S TROOPS TO VIEW BODY AS IT LIES IN STATE

Rites Today for Author of Artillery Song.

Fort Leavenworth, Kas., June 1 [Special].—More than 1,600 soldiers stationed at Fort Leavenworth will pay tribute to Brig. Gen. E. L. Gruber at a military funeral in the post chapel at 2 p. m. tomorrow.



Gen. Gruber. [A.P. Wirephoto.]

Gen. Gruber, commanding general of the fort and commandant of the army's Command and General Staff school, died unexpectedly Friday night while playing bridge at the home of friends. He was the author of the famed field artillery battle song, "The Caissons Go Rolling Along," which he wrote when a lieutenant on service in the Philippines in 1908.

Burial at Arlington.

The body will lie in state at the chapel from 1:30 p. m. tomorrow until the funeral. After military services, the body will be placed on a caisson and escorted the full length of the army post. At the post limits the body will be transferred to a hearse and taken to Kansas City, Mo., for cremation. Burial will be made in Arlington National cemetery at Washington, D. C.

"The Caissons Go Rolling Along" was written for Gruber's regiment one hot night while the officers gathered for a party.

"We were sitting around talking and some one suggested we needed a regimental song," General Gruber told friends. "I was the only one who knew very much about music, so I went back to my tent and got my guitar. I finished it that night."

Song Published in 1926.

From the Philippines, the song spread quickly to other artillery posts as members of the regiment were transferred. For years "The Caissons" rolled along in folk song style by oral communication.

It was first published in the Field Artillery Journal for July and August, 1926, and was adopted officially a short time later.

400 TWINS HAVE ANNUAL PICNIC AT CASSVILLE

Cassville, Wis., June 1 [Special].—Two hundred pairs of twins from Wisconsin, Illinois, and Iowa were guests of the Southwestern Wisconsin Twins' association today at the annual picnic here. Twenty pairs of the twins came from Chicago.

Twins attending the picnic and enjoying scenic rides on the Mississippi river range from infants to octogenarians. Several thousand other persons also attended the picnic.

The Chicago twins who came here today are members of the Zephyr Twin club, sponsored by the Burlington railroad and named after the famous twin streamliners which run between Chicago and the Twin Cities, Minneapolis and St. Paul. The Chicago party arrived at noon aboard the Zephyr and the southbound train stopped this evening to take them back home.

Dr. Lynford Lardner, Golf Champion's Father, Dies

Oconomowoc, Wis., June 1 [Special].—Dr. Lynford Lardner, 59 years old, retired Oconomowoc dentist and father of Lynford Lardner Jr., state amateur golf champion, died at his home today shortly after returning from church services. Death was due to a heart attack. He had been in good health spending much of his time recently on the golf course. Dr. Lardner for years has played Santa Claus to the children of the public schools distributing gifts at his own expense. He is survived by his son and a daughter, Mrs. Ernest Wiley, Los Angeles, Cal.

AMA WILL STUDY WAYS TO ASSIST IN ARMING DRIVE

Cleveland, O., June 1 [Special].—War medicine and the place of the medical profession in national armament will be dominant themes in discussions at the 92d annual meeting of the American Medical association, opening here tomorrow. More than 7,500 physicians will participate in scientific meetings in the municipal auditorium thru the week.

At last year's convention in New York City, the AMA pledged the services of its 118,000 members to the nation in the event of war. Since then the association has completed a survey of the availability and willingness of the nation's 185,000 doctors to serve if needed in an emergency.

This voluntary mobilization was carried out despite tensions in the relationship of the association and the Washington administration. The AMA last week was fined $2,500 in the federal court at Washington after being found guilty of conspiracy to violate the anti-trust act by attempting to obstruct the activities of a cooperative plan for the medical care of government employés.

TRAFFIC UP 50% OVER SUMMER'S SUNDAY AVERAGE

750,000 Cars on Roads in County Last Night.

Traffic on Illinois, Indiana, and Wisconsin highways yesterday was 50 per cent heavier than on the average summer Sunday and 25 to 30 per cent heavier than on Memorial day, 1940, Chicago Motor club officials estimated last night. In Cook county about 750,000 vehicles were in motion in midevening.

Three persons were killed in automobile accidents in Cook county from midnight Thursday until midnight last night. During the holiday period 298 persons were injured in 540 accidents. Until 4 p. m. yesterday, 368 persons had been killed by automobiles in the county since Jan. 1. Of these, 273 were killed in Chicago, where 9,444 were injured in the same period.

Injured Fatally in Crash.

Hobert Cogswell, 38 years old, of 15938 Lexington avenue, Harvey, was injured fatally last night when his automobile was struck at 150th and Morgan streets, Harvey, by a car driven by Eugene Knight, 27, of 7324 University avenue. Harvey police said Knight ignored a stop sign. He was held for the inquest.

Miss Helen Kerr, 30, of 3001 Wilson avenue, a secretary employed by the Santa Fe railroad, was killed, and her fiancé, David Walker, also of Chicago, was injured seriously early yesterday when the taxicab in which they were riding struck a bridge abutment near Spartanburg, S. C. Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Stegeman of Aurora, who were also in the taxi, escaped with minor injuries. Miss Kerr and Mrs. Stegeman were visiting the two men, who are soldiers at Camp Croft, S. C.

Policeman Dies of Injuries.

Motorcycle Policeman Frank Miller, 39, of 8109 Ellis avenue, died in Jackson Park hospital of injuries suffered Friday when he was thrown from his machine at 1035 East 76th street while chasing a speeder. He had been on the force for 12 years and is survived by his widow, Gertrude, and a daughter.

Mrs. Joseph B. Kosner, 59, of 1421 South Home avenue, Berwyn, was killed and her husband injured seriously in an automobile accident Saturday night three miles east of Hazen, Ark.

BOY SHOT BY HIS FATHER IN ERROR IS MAKING GAINS

The condition of Richard Aman, 19 years old, who was shot by his father, Al, Saturday when the father mistook his son for a burglar, was better yesterday. Young Aman, a sophomore at Northwestern university, was shot twice while attempting to enter a window of his home at 2171 Eastwood avenue. Dr. John A. Graham said the youth would be operated on in a few days to remove the bullets. He is in Ravenswood hospital.

PRE-MARRIAGE EXAMINATIONS

Your certificate is ready the day you are examined!

One big advantage in getting your pre-marriage examination at the Public Health Institute is that, if you are examined before 2 P. M. at 159 or 169 N. Dearborn Street, your certificate will be ready the same day. Organized by public-spirited citizens as a corporation "NOT-FOR-PROFIT," the Public Health Institute makes a full examination for gonorrhea and syphilis for only $3.00. More than 285,000 persons have been examined here!

SKEETERS PUT THE BITE ON AN 8 YEAR RECORD

An unusually high prevalence of mosquitoes for this season of the year was reported yesterday by J. Lyell Clarke, engineer of the Des Plaines valley mosquito abatement district.

Clarke said that tests made last Wednesday showed the average biting rate in the Chicago area was two in 5 minutes, the highest since 1933.

Two kinds of mosquitoes are most prevalent now, he said. These are the woodland mosquitoes, with white bands around their legs and an almost infinite capacity for human blood, and the floodwater mosquitoes, which can fly 15 miles.

Clarke warned that persons who like to make outdoor trips would be wise to invest in some sort of repellent lotion. He closed his report on the following note:

"The floodwater mosquito settles into shrubbery and tall grasses, where he will bite during the day. At dusk, this hungry little 'beast' will leave his daytime shelter and forage for blood even in the open streets, fields, lawns, and golf fairways."

BODY OF FORMER JOLIET TEACHER FOUND IN LAKE

The body of Wilfred E. Blampin, 45 years old, a former English teacher in the Joliet High school and junior college, was recovered yesterday from the lake at Lincoln park opposite North avenue. Blampin had been missing since May 19, when he left the Allerton hotel, where he had registered two days earlier, and failed to return.

His sister, Dr. Winifred Blampin of Kansas City, Mo., who identified the body, said Blampin had been suffering from an anxiety neurosis, but could offer no further explanation for his death. She said he had been forced to stop teaching in February. When he disappeared he left a letter for Dr. Blampin at the Allerton hotel in which, she told police, he threatened suicide.

Blampin had lived for the last four years with another sister, Mrs. Edith Reynolds, at 218 Sherman street, Joliet. He was unmarried.

FIRE DESTROYS DORMITORY AT COUNTRY CLUB

The Homewood and Flossmoor volunteer fire departments spent 2½ hours last night and early today fighting a fire which destroyed the two story frame dormitory of the Idlewild Country club, west of Flossmoor in Bloom township. Damage to the building, which contained 16 rooms with bath for the use of members, was estimated at $7,000. Ten club members staying in the dormitory escaped. The fire was believed to have originated in a hot water heater in the basement.

Arnold Carroll of the Homewood fire department was injured slightly when struck by the automobile of a hit-run driver on the nearby Dixie highway while trying to flag down a Flossmoor fire truck. The firemen were forced to pump water from a pond nearly 300 yards distant to fight the flames.

TWO HURT IN PLANE CRASH.

Moline, Ill., June 1 [Special].—Fred G. Kramer, pilot, and Henry Albers, a passenger, both of Rock Island, were injured seriously today when their light plane crashed in an oat field, eight miles southeast of here. Kramer blamed motor trouble for the accident.

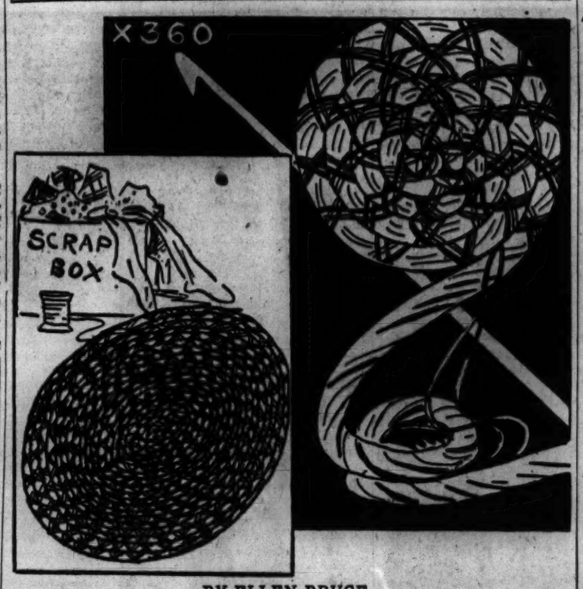
Rug Crocheted from Castoffs



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Here is a good looking crocheted rug which is a combination of hosiery and carpet warp. Castoff socks, combined with two shades of carpet warp, create a rug which may be used in any room in the house. One may also use a couple of cones of lightweight cotton the thickness of jumping rope, if hosiery is not available.

For instructions in crocheting the rug, No. 360, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Green Summer Ahead—Frocks 'n' Everything!

BY REA SEEGER.

Fashionably recommended as a new color scheme for a sultry summer season ahead: Try green for a change . . . instead of navy, black, brown, or gray. Use dark cool cypress green or a supersmart shade of bronze green as a basic color round which you plan and assemble a summer wardrobe.

Besides being the coolest color of the spectrum, it has life vitality and the color experts say it soothes and calms. And green is universally becoming; there is one shade of green for every personality if you will shop seriously for that just right shade.

There are gay green linen dresses, green and white checked seersucker two piece suits. There are white striped smooth cool chambray dresses and suits of the same cool green without the stripes. Green jackets and green coats are abundant and so are slacks and matched play suits.

Green dinner clothes are unbelievably swank when they are of clinging jersey, chiffon, or vivid prints in green and white. One of the smartest dinner dresses in town is the one of emerald green chiffon dotted with cool white dots. There's a crisp white organdy dress that is a heart breaker.

It has a simple bodice with sleeves that end just below the elbow. The skirt is billowing and full with long green Hawaiian it leaves imprinted in dark green against white. Round the waist is a green velvet sash belt.

Many dark green hats come in straw and shantung, even the newest brimmed coconut straw sports hats have dark green bands around the crown. Green feathered hats are small but mightily smart with town suits of cotton or linen. Soft, subtle green shantung makes some of the most unusual daytime dresses. Accessories of bamboo beige, natural tints, yellow, and white, keep the ensemble cool looking and cool to wear.

Pretty Graduation Frock

MISS' GRADUATION FROCK.

The double thrill of receiving a diploma and impressing one's first beau deserves the nicest frock a girl graduate's mother can give her. Today's pattern provides just the one, and it will meet with the fashion approval of youngsters and the budget wisdom of mothers. Simple to sew, it is a girlish, dainty, and practical model, for after graduation it may serve as a "best" party dress. In more everyday fabrics it's a grand style for school and daily wear.

Style No. 3111 is designed for sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the patterns and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Numerology By Evelyn Holmes

Universal day—Things likely to be a little bit hectic and it might be hard to settle down.

Flowers—Since many of you are probably thinking about your gardens now, you might like to know some of the flowers that have the same vibrations as the number for your year. If you are in a one year this year, you might try some hollyhocks in your garden. It is a little late to talk about iris and lilacs, but they both belong to the number one group. The idea of this number is to pioneer, stand alone, and to be decisive and poised, so the flowers that represent this attitude would best suit your moods. So that gives us the early spring flowers and those that stand as strong, individualistic blossoms or stalks. The names of the ones mentioned add up to this number, but you will notice that they also fill the other requirements, too.

Frozen fruit salads usually are so rich and calorific that their proper place is in a light luncheon menu. They may also serve as both salad and dessert at dinner.

Whipped cream and mayonnaise usually are their foundation. Sometimes cream cheese, cottage cheese or grated American cheese is added. Then it doesn't matter much what kinds of fruit are added. Almost any combination, cut in small pieces will make a good salad.

These salads are from our booklet, "Freeze the Salad," which contains also receipes for frozen vegetable salads, frozen chicken and fish salads. The booklet sells for 5 cents, by mail, and stamps are preferred.

Frozen Eden Salad
[Serves six]

1 cup cooked prunes, cut in quarters
1 cup crushed pineapple
1 cup moist coconut
¼ cup diced green pepper
1 cup whipping cream, whipped
½ cup mayonnaise
¼ teaspoon salt

Combine ingredients lightly, freeze in refrigerator tray for four hours, or until firm, and serve in cubes on watercress or lettuce.

This salad is better than it sounds. The green pepper "chirks up" the fruitiness a bit. Pimiento does the same thing for this one:

Frozen Salad A La Jeanne
[Serves six]

4 bananas, sliced
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
½ cup mayonnaise
½ pound marshmallows, cut in pieces
3 pimientos [1 can] pureed, with juice
¾ teaspoon salt

Mix bananas with lemon juice. Fold in other ingredients. Mix well and freeze in refrigerator tray for several hours. Cut into squares and serve on lettuce or watercress with fruit dressing.

Fruit Salad Dressing.

1 tablespoon cornstarch
¾ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup lemon juice
½ cup orange juice
1 cup pineapple juice
3 egg yolks
1 cup sour cream

Mix cornstarch, sugar and salt. Mix fruit juices. Add to dry mixture and cook, stirring constantly, in the top of a double boiler until mixture thickens and is smooth. Cook 10 minutes longer, stirring frequently. Remove from heat, add well beaten egg yolks, and stir vigorously. Return to heat and cook 2 minutes longer. Cool and fold in thick sour cream.

Rockford Folk to Invite Soldiers in for Meals

Rockford, Ill., June 1 [Special].—A program to provide home cooked meals for selectees at Camp Grant was launched today in Rockford churches. Thousands of "guest request" cards were distributed to church members at services this morning. They will be filled out, specifying the number of selectees each member will entertain. The cards then will be turned over to camp morale officers, who will fill the requests. The meals will be provided Saturdays and Sundays. "Guest request" cards will be distributed in local churches every Sunday.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

MONDAY, JUNE 2, 1941.

Thru the LOOKING GLASS

We've mentioned it before, but we want to remind you again of the lovely lily perfume from Bermuda. We and a few other willing subjects have been using it—and the lovely toilet water, too—during the muggy weather, and we've quite solemnly decided that it's one of those scents that's perfect for warm weather use. There's "coolth" in its character, plus great charm, and in some miraculous fashion it bolsters your morale when the weather and the world's fandangoes make you want to wilt.

It's curious the way certain perfumes, ones you dearly love for nine months of the year, are almost unbearable when it is hot. At least that's our experience.

We love sophisticated perfumes ordinarily, but when the weather is warm and we are, too, they strike us as being much too heavy. Our new little Easter lily pet from Bermuda fills the bill perfectly.

It has the suggestion of frosty white and cool green that comes to mind when you think of the flower. In other words, it has serenity, a beautiful quality at any time but especially so when temperatures soar.

It's an ideal perfume for the working woman. A good deal of the prejudice against the use of perfume during working hours has happily died out, but it's still true that turbulent, too romantic scents are bad taste and bad business psychology. A scent such as this is perfect.

It builds up one's sense of femininity, helps one feel cool and crisp and is so charmingly fresh and pretty in character that the wearer and the most crotchety of bystanders are pleased.

Stirring Film Tells Story of Flying Cadets

Produced by Paramount.
Directed by Mitchell Leisen.
Presented at the Chicago.

THE CAST.

Jeff	Ray Milland

Cadet Captain	Richard Webb
Flight Commander	Richard Lane

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

"Slip into your 'chute. Buckle your belt. . . ."

Maybe you have an idea as to what a boy must go thru before he's a licensed United States fighter plane pilot. Maybe you haven't. Either way you'll know a lot more about the subject than you do now after you've seen "I Wanted Wings."

The story was actually filmed at Kelly, Randolph, and Marsh fields with the full coöperation of the army air corps. . . . The story picks up the greenhorn aspirant at his greenest and goes right along with him to the day when Unicle Sam's emissary pins the coveted—and EARNED—wings on his brave young breast. . . .

As the production would entertain as well as instruct, the feminine element is also present in the persons of two lovely girls—one wholesome and sweet and smart, the other veddy, veddy bad. A sort of de luxe alley cat, Sally, as portrayed by Veronica Lake. Really, a new sort of vamp! Babyishly appealing in a blood curdling way. If you get what I mean.

Colorful characterizations are contributed by Ray Milland, William Holden, and Wayne Morris as the three eaglets, from different walks of life, on whom the spotlight lingers. But to my way of thinking, it's Brian Donlevy's quiet, forceful portrayal of a flying instructor that takes the cake. . . . He'd be a hundred per cent perfect in these eyes this trip if he'd only done a little scissors work on his back hair. I don't like those nonchalant neck lines, do you?

See you tomorrow.

Stokowski Orchestra Concert Tonight to Be Homecoming for Five

When Leopold Stokowski presents his All-American Youth orchestra at the Civic Opera house tonight in a benefit for the Chicago Lighthouse for the Blind the concert will be a homecoming for five Chicagoans in the orchestra. They are Arnold Jacobs, 8839 Normal avenue, tuba player; Helene Goldenberg, 1407 South Avers avenue, violinist; Israel Baker, 3825 Adams street, violinist; Oscar Chausow, 501 Independence boulevard, violinist, and Mary E. Coleman, 2106 North Harlem avenue, Elmwood Park, string bass player. They are among the 100 odd young musicians whom Stokowski has assembled from every part of the country. Tonight's concert will mark the orchestra's first Chicago appearance.

Looking at Hollywood
By John Chapman

Diary of a Movie Correspondent.

Hollywood, Cal., June 1.—Sunday—In the evening to catch a double bill, and afterward I try to reason out why I don't like double bills. I decide it isn't the plain length of the show. No law says you have to stay thru the whole thing.

What gets me down about double bills, I've decided, is that there is almost always something in 'em to make me mad—so mad I forget the good time part of the show. Take tonight's: Myrna Loy and William Powell in "Love Crazy." Swell. Funny and beautifully done. Then a Michael Shayne "thriller," "Sleepers West." It's one-third too long, too slowly paced to be a thriller, and the dialog smells, it's so simpleminded. How's this for one of the big punch scenes: the mystery gal on the train, who mustn't be allowed to get to San Francisco, is found by a baddie, who crashes her compartment and sticks a gun in her plump tummy. Just then in comes Louis Jean Heydt, a nice, innocent fellt. He knocks the baddie, grabs the baddie's gun, then asks, "What happened?"

Monday—To Catalina by speedboat to watch Frank Lloyd making the sea stuff for "I, James Lewis." Afterward two of us go to call on Humphrey and Mayo Bogart aboard their little cabin cruiser in Cherry cove. Bogey isn't exactly "in suspense" at Warner's, because he's getting paid, but they haven't assigned him to a picture and he and Mayo are having a fine holiday.

Tuesday—To Metro to talk with Patrick O'Moore on the "Smiling Through" set, and Jeanette MacDonald says the music for this film won't be the score that Vincent Youmans once wrote for the play, but all public domain stuff—mostly old English, such as "Drink to Me Only," etc. . . . In late afternoon to Richard Arlen's ranch, an hour's drive out, and what a place! Not gaudy but good, and in good taste. Dick, who is batching it, is a fanatical housekeeper. House is on a hilltop. Sweeping view. In a little dry valley below Dick has built a dam and has a 300 foot lake, with sand and lawn all around, and a playhouse. This really is a swimming pool. Water costs only $7 a month—commercial rate because Dick raises water lilies and bass. Sells bass eggs to state hatchery. Quarter of a cent an egg. A lady bass has 40 or 50 thousand eggs. Better'n raising rabbits. . . . After the President's speech to Norman McLeod's house in North Hollywood for a barbecue, and Red Skelton and his wife are there and Red does several routines, including his hilarious television announcer on a gin program. He has a funny new one about a soda jerk who is allergic to ice cream.

Wednesday—It's typewriting day again, but I seize time off to lunch with Hunt Lewis at the Authors' club, which Rupert Hughes runs. It's not a movie crowd, altho there are some film people in it. One of the speakers, a Standard Oil man just back from Iraq, is interesting. Says Hitler never can get oil from Mosul because the British would destroy the pipe lines to the sea if he came in, and it would take two years to repair them. Germany now working on oil reserves hidden in abandoned mines. Reserves low. Rumanian oil not nearly enough. Hitler will have to go into Russia for oil and Russia knows it. And England can always get plenty.

Thursday—To Paramount and Preston Sturges' "Sullivan's Travels" set. Preston gives me a script, which I read later, and it is funny and witty. I'm no expert on reading something and saying, "This will be a hit," but I'd like to bet "Sullivan's Travels" is. . . . Sturges is making a night club out of his drive-in, the Players, and Harry Rosenthal will have an orchestra there.

Friday—Some golf and some letter writing, and in the evening the Dave Hempsteads over for some gin rummy. Dave and Lewis Milestone have just flown back from Santa Fe, N. M., where they went to look at an actor—as if there weren't enough actors within an egg's throw of here!

Girl students of the Chicago Academy of Fine Arts brought back memories to Sunday afternoon strollers on Michigan avenue yesterday. Clad in fancy dresses mother and grandmother used to wear, the young girls presented 40 years of fashions as a part of the school's 40th anniversary celebration.

All the dresses were made by former fashion design students at the academy. The modern garments, too, displayed for contrast, were designed by the students themselves.

The academy's annual student exhibition and fashion parade will be held Thursday and Sunday in the school galleries at 18 South Michigan avenue. Every evening except Sunday the dress design department will present a fashion show at 8 p. m.

Exhibits, all the work of present and former students, will include illustrations, model rooms, industrial designs, photography, cartoons, interior decorations, as well as general painting and drawing.

The Chicago Academy of Fine Arts was founded in 1901 by Carl N. Werntz, now president emeritus. The school is now under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Van Sickle Ford.

Yacht Club Opening Starts Activities at Lake Geneva

BY JUDITH CASS.

SUMMER activities at Lake Geneva got well under way over the week-end. The Lake Geneva Yacht club opened its 68th season quietly, but its membership is filled with excitement because this year the club will be host to the biggest yacht racing event of the country, the 44th annual regatta of the Inland Lake Yachting association.

Ernst Schmidt, secretary both of the yacht club and of the association, has announced the dates of the racing classic for Monday thru Friday, Aug. 18-22. That week will be a busy one with house parties, dancing and sailing parties.

The Big Foot Country club also opened for the season last week-end. The first golf matches and dinner party were held Friday. The Lake Geneva Country club was opened earlier last month.

D. A. Crawfords Take Cottage at Club Unique.

The David A. Crawfords have taken a cottage at Club Unique, not far from the Rawleigh Warners' home, and near the summer home of the well known painter and illustrator, Frederick Mizen. The Crawfords' young sons, David Jr. and Edward, will be among the members of the yacht club's sailing school which again will be conducted by Herbert Taylor.

Dr. and Mrs. Edward W. White and their daughter, Barbara, opened their home last Friday for the summer. Across the lake from them, at Buena Vista, workmen are rushing to complete two new "beautiful view" windows in Brooklawn, the country home of the Robert Tarrants of Winnetka.

The "in residence" flags have been hoisted at the Blackpoint homes of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bartholomay and Mrs. Otto L. Schmidt. Dr. and Mrs. William F. Petersen and their sons, Conrad and William Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Hans H. Reese of Madison and their children spent the holiday at Blackpoint. Mrs. Reese and Mrs. Petersen are daughters of Mrs. Schmidt.

Late this month Lake Genevans will start going to Williams Bay for the eighth season of plays by the Belfry Players. The first play, "Fly Away Home," will be given June 25-29 in the Belfry theater, which formerly was an old Mormon church. "The Man Who Came to Dinner," "The Women" and "George Washington Slept Here" are other plays on the summer schedule.

Virtually Every One to Hear Concert Tonight.

Whatever the weather, virtually every one in social circles will don his or her most formal attire tonight and go to the Civic Opera house. Not for an opera performance but for a concert by Leopold Stokowski and his All-American Youth orchestra to benefit the Chicago Lighthouse for

Hard Case

By Luke Short

[Copyright: 1941: By Luke Short.]

SYNOPSIS.

Carol McFee, whose father is about to lose his ranch to Tate Wallace because of a forged deed, asks Dave Coyle, notorious outlaw, to help her prove the deed is forged. Wallace is blackmailing a man named Sholto to make him testify he witnessed McFee sign the deed. Will Usher, crook and enemy of Dave's proposes that he and Dave kidnap Sholto and make Wallace pay a ransom. Dave agrees, thinking it will help McFee, but when he brings the kidnaped Sholto to Usher, he realizes he has been double crossed and that Usher wants to collect the ransom and the reward on Dave's head. Dave escapes, goes back to town and finds that McFee has been arrested for the kidnaping and possible murder of Sholto. He helps McFee break jail in order to rescue Sholto and bring him back to prove McFee not guilty of murder. As they bring Sholto to town he is shot and killed and McFee is arrested for murder while Dave escapes. Dave feels that Sholto's real murderer was either Sheriff Beal, Deputy Ernie See, Lacey Thornton, McFee's disgruntled ex-partner, or Senator Maitland, McFee's lawyer, as these four men were the only ones who could have known they were bringing Sholto to town. Dave has good reason to believe Ernie is not guilty, so he goes to Ernie and tells him why he thinks one of the other persons might be guilty. He persuades Ernie to help him steal the recorded deed and lay a trap for the murderer. He hides in the McFee ranch as Wallace moves in and takes possession. He steals Wallace's deed and while escaping he evens his score with Will Usher by pretending to Wallace that Usher was in on the theft. Wallace shoots Usher, but when he reports the theft he claims Dave shot him and three other men of his while escaping. The reward for Dave's capture is raised to $20,000.

DEED SOLD.

INSTALMENT XLIII.

"How?"

"Ernie See can be bought," Dave lied slowly. "For $10,000 Ernie See will let your dad out of jail, give him a fast horse, and start him on his way to Mexico."

"Dave!" Carol said softly. She looked searchingly at him, trying to get a clue to his thoughts. Then she said, "How do you know?"

"Every man has his price," Dave said cynically. "I found out his. It's $10,000."

Carol looked wonderingly at him. "But what would dad do in Mexico—providing he could get there?"

"What'll he do dead?" Dave asked brutally.

Carol shuddered. Dave had put it bluntly enough; it was either Mexico or the hangnoose.

She said, "That's true. He should go. But where will we get $10,000?"

Dave, who had been holding the deed in front of him, simply waved it once and said nothing.

Carol, understandingly, said swiftly, "You'll sell the deed back to the Three Rivers?"

"Not to Wallace himself. I don't trust him. I'm going to sell it back to the man behind Wallace—for $10,000."

Carol felt an excitement pounding thru her, and then it was dampened. "But do you know who it is?"

Dave grinned. "I don't. But I'll tell you how I can find out. You remember that night at your spread when you told me of the letter bein' stole?"

"Yes, yes!"

"I'll send a letter to each of those men who could have stole the letter. I won't send one to Ernie See because I've found out he can't be the one. I'll send a note to Sheriff Beal, and one to Lacey Thornton." He paused. "I'll also send one to Senator Maitland."

"But ——" Carol began, and then smiled. "What difference would it make if Uncle Dan got one? He'd just be bewildered and wouldn't understand."

"What will you say in the notes?"

"I'll say the same thing in all of them," Dave continued. "It will read like this: 'If you want the deed to the Bib M; follow these directions. Get $10,000 in banknotes. At 7 o'clock tonight ride south out of Yellow Jacket three miles until you come to the big cottonwood by the ford. There will be a fire burning there. Dump out your banknotes by the fire, so I can see them. Then walk 20 feet south, lift the flat rock, and the deed will be under it. If your banknotes are just paper, you will be shot by me. If they are really banknotes, you can ride off unharmed.' I'll sign my own name."

Carol nodded, then said, "But what if it's Sheriff Beal, and he brings men with him?"

"Seven o'clock is just after dark. There's a butte behind the cottonwood. On top of it I can see whether one man comes or a dozen. If it's more than one I grab the deed and run. If it's one, I stay there." He grinned. "It can't fail."

Carol thought a moment, then said bitterly, "Whoever it is, they'll send a messenger. We'll never know who was behind Tate Wallace and the Three Rivers outfit."

Dave shrugged carelessly. "We got to give that up. We don't care who it is, just so your dad goes free."

"That's true. That's all that matters. Only—we'll never know."

It was almost dark in the room now. Dave said, "You got any paper and a pen."

"Are you going to write the letters?"

Dave nodded. "You go downstairs. It's almost supper time. Leave me here. When you come back there'll be four letters for you to mail. Take them out and mail them."

"Four?" Carol asked. "Who is the fourth one to?"

Dave smiled faintly. "It's a man. He's got nothing to do with this. His name is—let's see." He scratched his head. "George Bemis. He's coming to town soon. I'll mark his letters, 'Hold till called for.' You mail 'em all right after supper."

Carol nodded. "And when will dad make his escape?"

"Two nights from now," Dave said.

Carol stood up and got the paper and pen and envelopes. Dave pulled the curtain and she lighted the lamp. Then she stood by the desk and Dave pulled the chair over.

"Be careful, Dave," she said softly. "Be awfully careful." She hesitated, then said passionately, "O, Dave, are you sure it will work?"

"Why won't it?" Dave asked absently.

His very indifference encouraged Carol. She walked to the door and said, "You'll be careful?"

Dave didn't look up. He had already started to write, and still writing, he said, "If you tell any one about this—any one, understand—your dad will hang."

"Who would I tell?" Carol asked resentfully.

Dave didn't even answer her. He was writing. She closed and locked the door and went downstairs, feeling a little angry that Dave thought she'd tell. She'd show him.

By 6 o'clock the next evening Dave's stolen horse was tied to a small cedar in the dry wash behind Alamo Butte. The road stretching across the sage flats to Yellow Jacket was empty. Dave, standing under the cottonwood, shivered a little in the chill air, for when the sun went down now the nights were immediately cool. Soon winter would be on them, and he would drift down into Mexico again, aimless and footloose, following the sun. For some reason that thought didn't cheer him up now.

He set about gathering brush and stacking it under the big cottonwood. Fuel was scarce around here, and he worked fast to get a big pile. Finished, he hunted up a big flat rock, paced 10 feet south of the fire, and put the rock down. He did not place the deed under it; he kept that in his pocket.

Then he climbed the face of the butte. It was dusk now, but he could see for miles out on the flats on either side. Presently, riding the road from Yellow Jacket, he picked out a pinpoint of black that soon materialized into the shape of a horse and rider. Nothing moved anywhere else, except a scattering of cattle off toward the east.

Satisfied, he climbed down again. It was getting dark fast. He lighted the fire, picked up his rifle standing against the tree, then crossed the dry gulch and bellied down amidst the tall sage on its far bank.

Darkness came suddenly and the night breeze fanned the flames. Dave listened, keening the wind for any sound of more than a single rider. But there were only the night sounds about him, the scurrying of a mouse in the brush, the deep tearing sounds of the bullbats as they cruised and dove for their food overhead.

And now there was the sound of a horse approaching. Dave lay there watching. He heard the horse stop and he knew the man riding it was looking over the place before he ventured into the firelight.

Then Tate Wallace rode up to the cottonwood and dismounted. Dave knew it would be Wallace, and was not surprised. He saw Wallace carrying a canvas sack, step over to the fire, kneel and dump out fat, tight packed sheaves of banknotes. One bunch, picked at random, he untied and fanned out, so that any one watching from the darkness could see they were banknotes. He waited a moment, standing away from the fire and giving an observer time to look, then he walked over to the stone and lifted it.

Before he had time to curse, Dave called easily, "Wait a minute, Wallace. I'll bring it over to you."

Dave came down the bank and crossed the arroyo. Wallace was standing with his hands in the air.

"I haven't got a gun," he said quietly.

"I didn't think you would have," Dave said. "Come on over to the fire."

They walked into the circle of firelight and Dave reached in his shirt pocket and brought out the deed and receipt. He handed it to Wallace, who hesitatingly accepted it, then opened it to make sure it was the deed.

"I throwed in the sheet I tore from the county records, too," Dave said.

U. of I. Senior Ball Tonight Will Start Commencement Week

Urbana, Ill., June 1 [Special].—Final examinations at the University of Illinois will end tomorrow, and the thousands of seniors will relax with the senior ball tomorrow evening, opening senior week.

Commencement activities will open next Thursday with an alumni school of affairs. Class day exercises will be held Friday, with Earl Reece Leng, Williamsfield, Ill., enrolled in the college of agriculture, delivering the valedictory address, and James Lloyd Edmonds, Urbana, the salutatory address. Both have perfect scholastic records.

The annual meeting of the Alumni association and class reunions will be held Saturday.

The 2,400 seniors will assemble Sunday afternoon, June 8, for the baccalaureate procession. Dean William L. Sperry of the Harvard divinity school will deliver the baccalaureate address.

The 70th annual commencement will be held Monday morning, June 9, with President Arthur Cutts Willard delivering the address and conferring degrees.

Commencement exercises for the Chicago departments of the university—the colleges of medicine, dentistry, and pharmacy—will be held in the Chicago Civic Opera house next Friday with Brig. Gen. Shelley U. Marietta, assistant surgeon of the United States army, delivering the address.

Illinois Veterans of GAR Will Open Convention Today

Bloomington, Ill., June 1 [Special].—Delegates from every section of Illinois will converge on Bloomington tomorrow for the annual state convention of the Grand Army of the Republic. The session continues thru Thursday noon.

Various auxiliary organizations, Woman's Relief corps, Ladies of the GAR, Daughters of Union Veterans, Sons of Union Veterans, and the auxiliary to Sons of Union Veterans, will hold meetings.

The Woman's Relief corps will dedicate a memorial tablet tomorrow afternoon to former Gov. Joseph W. Fifer at his grave in Park Hill cemetery. A banquet in honor of department commanders will be held Tuesday evening. At 8 p. m. Ferre C. Watkins of Chicago, past state commander of the American Legion, will address the assembled groups.

If Hard Water Dries the Skin, Here's Advice

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

A correspondent relates that in the community in which she lives the big problem is that of hard water. Her skin, she notices, has become very dry during her two years' stay there. It's most difficult, she tells, to get up a lather with the soap she's using.

First, there are some good soaps on the market for that very purpose of softening hard water. Hard water soaps, they're called. And they're not expensive items, either.

Then, there are many bath accessories for the purpose of softening hard water, which they do effectively. There are bath crystals, bath salts, bath oils, and the bubbling bath products. All of these bath preparations are especially created to soften and neutralize hard water and allow one's bath soap to lather freely.

The "bubble bath" provides you with a feeling of luxurious and leisurely bathing, altho the cost of the item isn't really luxurious. You drop the preparation directly under the running water, the force of which makes it bubble. It gives you the feeling of indulging in a regular spa treatment. You want to be leisurely in taking the bath and revel in it a while, as it is a reliable means of getting in a few minutes of that relaxation the average busy person needs.

However, if the skin is drying thru the hard water usage, there had better be a shower to follow the bath, and then a lubricating cream used on the face and throat.

W-G-N Will Salute Lane Technical High on Citizens Hour

Lane Technical High school will be saluted on W-G-N from 8:30 to 9 p. m. tomorrow on the Citizens of Tomorrow program. A transcription will be made earlier in the day during a show in W-G-N's main studio before an audience of 600 students.

Two more students will be named to the Roll of Honor during the broadcast. One is Sam Turner, 18 years old, a recent graduate of Father Flanagan's Boys' Town, near Omaha, Neb. Sam was mayor of Boys' Town for two terms and was an honor student, a choir member, and a 4-H club official. Executives of the Stevens hotel heard about Sam's work in Boys' Town and decided to give him a job as a mail clerk. The other honor roll student is George DeWitt, senior class president of the Burlington, Ia., High school.

One of the highlights of the broadcast will be an address by Charles E. Lang, principal of Lane.

Monday, June 2.

Altho it may be easy to feel abused and petulant today, there will be no dividends from displays of low emotions. So bottle it all up and carry on, unless you can walk away from it and let it dissolve itself. Be diplomatic; use tact.

Your Year Ahead.

Your year ahead is bright, if this is your birthday. Now to next May push plans for reward, form alliances, promote yourself, collect just dues. From May 25 on reaping of past is due. Danger: March 11-27.

Tomorrow.

HAROLD TEEN—'FOR THE DEFENSE'

WHAT WAS IT YOU WANTED TO TELL ME ABOUT YOU AND PRUNY, GRAMPS?
WELL-Y'SEE, I'VE BEEN A PRETTY LONELY OLD MAN ALL THESE YEARS--OF COURSE, I'VE HAD YOUR FAMILY AND FRIENDS --BUT SOMEHOW I--- SAY! ISN'T THAT VERONICA VALE--THE GIRL WE MET LAST WEEK?
I DON'T SEE WHY WE CAN'T STOP AND SAY 'HELLO'--SHE'S A LOVELY LOOKING GIRL--
NONSENSE! YOU'RE JUST LIKE THE REST OF THE PEOPLE HERE--NARROW-MINDED AND SMALL-FILLED WITH MALICIOUS GOSSIP! HAVE YOU ANY FACTS TO BACK YOUR STATEMENT? NO! WELL, DON'T GO AROUND SAYING THINGS LIKE THAT ABOUT SUCH A LOVELY GIRL! UNDERSTAND

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1941: By Ely Culbertson.]

As most players know, an opening bid may be made on a hand which is only slightly above average strength. When the opener freely rebids, however, he shows considerably more strength than is required for a minimum opening bid. This is particularly true when the opponents have displayed strong hands, and when his partner has given no indication of support. Now, logic demands that the opener pass if his hand is even close to a "minny." He already has made a declaration; why not sit back and let partner get in a word?

NORTH
♠ K 10 3
♥ K J 9 5
♦ 7 6 4

WEST
♠ 5 4
♥ A 6 2
♦ A Q J 3

EAST
♠ 7 6
♥ 8 4 3
♦ 10 9 8 2

SOUTH
♠ A Q J 9 8 2
♥ Q 10 7
♦ K 5
♣ A 8

South	West	North	East
1 spade	Double	Pass	2 clubs
2 spades	Pass	3 spades	Pass
4 spades	Pass	Pass	Pass

West's take-out double was a little skimpy, but he did not want to let his vulnerable opponents win the auction uncontested. North properly passed to await developments. East, of course, had to respond to the take-out double and did so in the lower-ranking of his two shabby four card suits. It was at this point that South displayed his considerable reserve strength by rebidding two spades. Relying on South for the strong hand his free bid had advertised, North raised and South then went to game.

West opened the queen of clubs. After due thought, South correctly checked his impulse to take the trick. The club continuation was taken by the ace, and South drew two rounds of trumps. Hearts now were attacked, and West was powerless to defeat the contract. South could not be prevented from obtaining a diamond discard on dummy's extra heart.

Had South taken the first trick with the ace of clubs, there would have been a different story to tell. When West took his ace of hearts he could have given his partner the lead with the king of clubs. A diamond return thru declarer's king then would have brought in the setting tricks.

R. L. Peters at City Club.

Russell L. Peters, executive secretary of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission, will discuss "Relief and Reemployment" before the City club at 12:30 o'clock today at the La Salle hotel.

Sentiment.

Daniel Conte, millionaire New York manufacturer, came to Chicago last week to be married to a Chicago girl, Helen Diasio. It was an elaborate wedding at the Drake hotel. Before the bridal couple departed for the east, Conte requested that a complete set of everything used at the wedding dinner be sent to their new home in New York—table silver, linen, candelabra, dishes, even wine coolers. They wish to be able to repeat, in detail, their wedding dinner at anniversary celebrations.

Mystery of the Bloody Footprints.

This department's unsolved mystery: The bloody footprints in Calvary cemetery last week. The tracks, each one showing a distinct right heel and sole print in blood were visible for about two miles. The footprints stopped in front of a freshly tended grave in the cemetery, and led to the Skokie bridge. Walter [Sherlock] Majeski, who followed them and reported his findings to this department, estimated that the loss of blood to produce such a trail would have been about one quart. He first noticed the footprints going south on Chicago avenue at Juneway terrace and followed them to the Skokie bridge. Retracing his steps he found the trail led him north on Chicago avenue thru the gates of the cemetery, east down the main road over the lagoon bridge, and to the east limits of the cemetery to the grave.

the Blind. Numerous dinner parties will be given before the concert with most of the boxholders among the hosts.

Selling flowers will be a group of pretty debutantes and postdebs, including Modrea Mullen, Sally Hyde, Jane Lee, Dudley Winston, Anne Daughaday, Marie Merrill Hubbard and Patricia Cathcart. Mrs. Louis Watermulder headed the large committee that has been working for weeks to make a success of the benefit.

Five young Chicagoans are among the 110 musicians who will play the Bach fugue in G minor; Brahms' First Symphony; Decision, from Henry Brant's ballet, "City Portrait," and Wagner's Prelude and Love-Death from "Tristan and Isolde." Not a Chicagoan but known to many here because he is married to the former Dorothy Michelson, is John Bitter, assistant conductor and a flutist in the orchestra. Mr. Bitter, who arrived Saturday, is staying in Lake Bluff with his wife's sister, Mrs. Michelson Maher, who gave a luncheon yesterday for Mr. Stokowski. Mrs. Bitter and the children have just gone from Coral Gables, Fla., where they live during the winter, to their summer camp on Racquette lake in the Adirondacks, so she will not be here for the concert.

A few tickets for the concert will be on sale at the box office tonight.

Frances Heyworth Thorne to Wed Swedish Official.

Mr. and Mrs. James O. Heyworth announced yesterday the engagement of Mr. Heyworth's sister, Mrs. Frances Heyworth Thorne of New York City, to Carl Wästfelt of Stockholm, Sweden. The wedding will take place this month.

Mrs. Thorne, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James O. Heyworth Sr., is a graduate of Miss Porter's school, Farmington, Conn. Mrs. Thorne's first marriage terminated in divorce in 1933.

Mr. Wästfelt, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Axel Wästfelt of Stockholm, is second secretary of the Swedish foreign office and now is serving in this country with the Swedish government cargo clearance committee.

Of interest here is the wedding announcement of Miss Leonora Hinsdill Parsons, daughter of Mrs. Edgerton Parsons of New York, and Richard Pickering Prowell Jr., for the bride is a granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Daniel M. Lord of Chicago. The wedding took place Saturday at Mrs. Parson's country home, Highover, at Hadlyme, Conn. The bride was given in marriage by her cousin, Willard Pope Parsons of Ballston Spa, N. Y., whose wife is the former Eleanor Mann Clark of Chicago.

Mr. Prowell, a descendant of Timothy Pickering, who was secretary of stat eunder Presidents Washington and Adams, is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard P. Prowell of Tuscaloosa, Ala. He and his bride, a member of the New York Junior league, will live in New York. She is a graduate of Smith college and also attended the Spence and Shipley schools.

Virginia Skinner Bride of Wisconsin Senator.

Standing before an enormous window overlooking Green Lake, Miss Virginia Skinner and Louis John Fellenz Jr. made a stunning picture as they repeated their wedding vows yesterday afternoon in the Green Lake, Wis., summer home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Skinner. The Rev. Louis Peake read the service at 4:30 o'clock in the living room, which was filled with country flowers—peonies, gladiolas, stock —all white.

The bride wore a summery frock of white mouseline de soie with a lace bodice and carried a colonial bouquet of white and pink carnations. Her only attendant, Miss Jacqueline Aagaard, wore a street length dressy afternoon dress of blue trimmed with lace and carried a bouquet similar to the bride's, but smaller. Mrs. Skinner also was in white, a street length frock, and her flowers were white carnations.

After the service the guests went outdoors to partake of refreshments from tables under gayly colored umbrellas. Mr. Fellenz, youngest Wisconsin state senator, was attended by Senator John Byrns. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fellenz of Fond du Lac. He and his bride will be at home for the summer in the guest house on the Skinners' grounds.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Benson [Harriet Fentress] are being congratulated on the birth of a son, their third child, on May 28 at St. Luke's hospital. The baby is a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Fentress. The Bensons have a 5 year old daughter, Polly, and a little son, Bruce Jr.

An outstanding difference in the graduating class of the Gray Lady hospital and recreation service of the Chicago chapter of the American Red Cross and other springtime graduating classes is the lack of uniformity of age. Most of the young men and women grouped on graduating platforms about the city are within a year or two of each other in age. But the 51 Gray Ladies who will receive their diplomas from James B. Forgan this afternoon at the Blackstone range in age from post-debutantes to women who have been running their own homes for a number of years.

Mrs. Edwin L. Brashears and Mrs. Robert H. Gardner of Winnetka are two Winnetka matrons who have found time to complete the 136 hour training course, and who intend to devote one day a week to the service. Mrs. Secor Browne, Miss Betty Mead, Miss Mary Louise Corley, and Mrs. John B. Erskine are more youthful graduates. The exercises will be held at 3 o'clock in the Crystal ballroom, with Dr. Raymond W. McNealy, superintendent of the Wesley Memorial hospital, as speaker. His subject will be "The Increasing Value of the Trained Volunteer in Hospital Service."

Weds June 24

MISS JUNE BERKEY.

The engagement of Miss June Berkey, daughter of Mrs. George Rhodes of Pasadena, Cal., and of Peter Berkey of Chicago and Lake City, Minn., to Arthur Pierce Lillyblad has been announced. Mr. Lillyblad is the son of Mrs. Charles E. Lillyblad of Red Wing, Minn. The wedding will take place on June 24 in the garden of Pepin lodge, Mr. Berkey's summer home in Lake City. It will be a small family ceremony. Miss Berkey, a granddaughter of the late Commodore John A. Berkey and Mrs. Berkey, pioneer Minnesotans, attended Miss Wheeler's school and was graduated from Miss Bennet's school in Millbrook, N. Y. Mr. Lillyblad was graduated from the University of Minnesota in 1937.

WHITE SOX OUST INDIANS FROM FIRST PLACE

CUBS DEFEAT PHILLIES, 9-5, 1-0; CLIMB TO FOURTH

FIRST SHUTOUT VICTORY OF 1941 GOES TO MOOTY

Root Needs Help in Opening Game.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., June 1.—Jake Mooty this afternoon did something no other Cub pitcher has done this season. He pitched a shutout in the second game of a double header with the Phillies and he couldn't have done less and won in regulation time, for the score was 1 to 0. This morsel, Jake's third victory of the year, served as dessert for the first game, in which Charley Root, tho knocked out in the seventh, was credited with a 9 to 5 victory.

Thus the good old Phils, who lifted the Cubs out of the National league cellar here on May 7, today lifted them out of the second division. The Cubs now have won 19 and lost 21 games, five of the triumphs being over the Phillies. And none of the losses was administered by Doc Prothro's boys.

Root Passes 1940 Total.

Root marked up his third 1941 victory in the first game, thus exceeding his 1940 victory total by one. Charley, tho he said later he didn't have his best stuff, held the Phillies scoreless until the seventh, when two singles and a walk loaded the bases and Bob Bragan followed up with a homer. Paul Erickson stepped in long enough to pitch four wide ones, two each to two different batsmen, then Vance Page went in and held the Phillies to one run the rest of the way.

Bill Nicholson, eager to carry on as the National league leader in the matter of batting in runs, played in the first game despite the wounded heel that kept him out of the Pittsburgh double header. Bill doubled to clear loaded bases in the fifth inning, lifting his runs batted in total to 41.

Hack Hit on Elbow.

Stan Hack was hit on the right elbow by one of Ike Pearson's pitches in the fifth inning of the first game, and after scoring on Nicholson's double, retired. The injury is only slight and Stan is not expected to remain long on the sidelines. His place at third base was taken by Johnny Hudson.

The lone run in the second game was scored by Lou Stringer, whose double was followed by one of three doubles Dom Dallessandro knocked during the afternoon.

Lee Grissom had fanned Lou twice previously and fanned him again later, but the victory swat was a beautiful shot to right center. Dallessandro's drive virtually duplicated Stringer's.

FIRST GAME

The Cubs' run production in the first game started when Sturgeon opened the third inning with the first of his three hits. Bob advanced on Root's sacrifice, took third on Hack's fly to Marty, and scored on Stringer's single to center. Stringer then scored on Dallessandro's first double.

Sturgeon also got the second productive inning under way. He opened the fifth with a double. After Root had been thrown out Hack was hit and Stringer again singled, Sturgeon scoring. Dallessandro was safe on Mueller's fumble, loading the bases. Nicholson doubled off the scoreboard in right center, scoring Hack, Stringer, and Dallessandro. Novikoff was safe on Etten's error, Nicholson taking third. Then he scored on Cavarretta's fly to Litwhiler.

Phils Knock Out Root.

Going into the seventh, Root had been touched for only four hits, one each in the first, third, fifth, and sixth innings. Etten opened the seventh with a single, Mueller drew Root's first pass, and Litwhiler singled, loading the bases. Bragan then lined a home run into the left field stand, good for four runs. When Root pitched two wide ones to Warren he was replaced by Erickson, who threw two wide ones to complete the pass. Paul's first two pitches to Livingston also were wide, whereupon he was replaced by Page, who pitched two more wide ones to Livingston. Then calm came. Page retired May, Benjamin, and Marnie in order.

The Cubs added two runs in the eighth on singles by Cavarretta, Sturgeon, and Hudson. The Phils got one in their half of the eighth on singles by Etten, Mueller, and Warren.

SECOND GAME

The Cubs left four runners on bases in the first three innings of the second game, but didn't make a base hit. In the third inning Grissom walked Mooty and Hudson, but Stringer struck out, Grissom tossed out Dallessandro and Leiber popped to Bragan.

I, Too, Once Lived.

I, too, once lived and found life sweet and fair;
Once skies were blue and sunshine warmed the air;
Once clouds were foaming billows white as snow
Once—O, it seems so long—so long ago!
Once I held hands clasped tightly in my own;
Once I looked into eyes where bright stars shone,
And pressed a kiss on lips that trembled so,
But now it seems so long a time ago.

When brass bands played a tune for marching feet,
And crossing over seas that murmured low,
I dreamed of her—a long, long time ago.

Upon a foreign field I fought and bled,
And there they found me lying cold and dead;
They brought me back that men might always know
I gave my life for them, once, long ago.

Today I have the homage of our land,

Man on the Bus.

When we next start extolling our heroes,
With all proper dither and fuss,
I hope they will not be forgetting
The fellow who drives a bus,
For there, my friends, is a hero.
Unhonored, uncrowned, and unsung,
So next when they pass out the baywreaths,

Patiently answering the question:
"Does this stop at Locust and Sears?"
When the woman who asks it has gotten off there
Time after time down the years;
Refraining from murder when, just as the rush
Is reaching its peak and its height,
And murmurs: "I hope it's all right."

Silently meeting the onslaught
Of the lady who cries: "Listen, you!
Can't you wait till a body gets seated?
I've a very good notion to sue!"
Yes, friends, when we're next listing heroes,
Let us honor that long suffering cuss,
The fellow who drives a bus!

PERRY DEFEATS SKEEN FOR PRO TENNIS CROWN

Then He Teams with Budge for Doubles Victory.

BY WILLIAM FAY.
1940 Notre Dame Tennis Captain.

Fred Perry, the former English Davis cup star, was on the winning side twice on the Chicago Town and Tennis club courts yesterday. He won the national professional tennis singles title by beating Dick Skeen of Hollywood, Cal., 6-4, 6-8, 6-2, 6-3, and then teamed with Donald Budge of Oakland, Cal., to whip Keith Gledhill and Lester Stoefen, the Los Angeles, Cal., team, in the doubles final, 6-4, 6-4, 6-3.

Perry was not a better tennis player than Skeen, but he was a better competitor. Not that Skeen lacked courage. He saved set point in the 10th game of the first set with a fine passing backhand that kicked up chalk on the sideline, but he didn't have Perry's experience which includes victories in every important amateur tournament in international tennis.

Skeen Shows One Flash.

While Perry was winning at Wimbledon and Forest Hills in the last decade, Skeen was teaching tennis in Hollywood, showing such glamour girls as Dolores Del Rio and Anne Rutherford and Carole Lombard what end of the racket to hold onto—and that is not the way to acquire a killer instinct for competitive tennis.

Perry added speed to his forehand after winning the first set, 6-4, on a court still damp from heavy rains. He ran to 4-1 in the second before Skeen struck a volleying stride that finally carried him even at 5-5. They exchanged services to 6-6 and then Skeen launched his only offensive of the match. He forced the net and won eight of the last nine points, volleying hard into the corners, to go out at 8-6.

Foe's Strategy Helps Perry.

Then Skeen showed his lack of competitive experience. He stopped attacking Perry's backhand—a vulnerable spot and began to play to Perry's forehand—which is like throwing a high fast ball to Rudy York.

Perry was well content with the unexpected change in strategy and stayed home on the baseline for the last two sets, winning them comfortably as the errors rolled off Skeen's racket.

Perry also won $400 and a silver cup and the afternoon was not a total loss for Skeen, either. For reaching the finals, he received an invitation to play with Perry, Budge, and Bill Tilden in the $25,000 round robin professional matches which open in New York City next week.

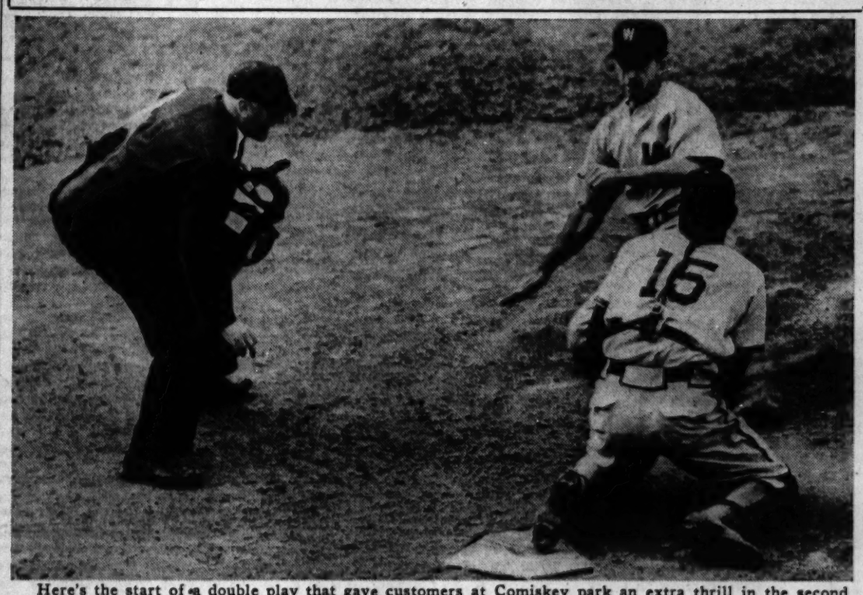
Speaking of Budge, Donald was back in form yesterday. He had recovered fully from the illness which contributed to his loss last week to Johnny Faunce, the free lance Los Angeles pro.

Budge Shows Old Skill.

Don was playing the game which won him the title last year and which makes him the world's greatest tennis player. Gledhill and Stoefen went to bat in the doubles against the two best singles players in tennis. The result was inevitable, but the decisive score was unexpected, for both Gledhill and Stoefen have won the national amateur doubles title. Stoefen served well and Gledhill contributed some fine top spun placements, but as a team they could not match Budge and Perry at the net.

Budge's booming backhand repeatedly forced weak defensive returns and Perry was always ready to step in and smash the ball away. The first set was even until 5-4 when Perry and Budge broke thru Gledhill. The second set was an encore and again Gledhill was broken when the score reached 5-4. Perry and Budge played no favorites in the third set. They broke both Gledhill and Stoefen and ran out the match at 6-3.

They're Out!—and So Are Two Other Fellows



Here's the start of a double play that gave customers at Comiskey park an extra thrill in the second game of yesterday's double header. George Case, Washington outfielder, is out at the plate in the seventh inning, Luke Appling to Catcher Mike Tresh, on Roger Cramer's grounder. Case jumped up to argue with Umpire Grieve. While he was arguing, Tresh threw to first baseman Joe Kuhel, who held the ball until Cramer wandered off base, then tagged him out. [TRIBUNE Photos.]

Here's Appling forcing Cramer to start a double play on Cecil Travis' smash. Like the one above, you don't see the other guy, but the White Sox got 'im and each time it helped out considerably.

If——

If both the White Sox and Indians win today, the Sox will increase their American league lead by 2 points. The percentages then would be .614 for Chicago and .612 for Cleveland. If both lose the Sox will drop back to second place and the Indians will lead—.592 to .591.

Indians Lose Two to Yankees, Thanks to Ruffing and Gomez

Cleveland, O., June 1 (AP).—A couple of veteran Yankee pitchers, Charley Ruffing and Lefty Gomez, gave the Indians a double drubbing today and left the top of the American league standings as tight as a drum. The Tribe suffered its first shutout of the season at Ruffing's hands, 2 to 0, and bowed to an eighth inning home run assault by Johnny Sturm and George Selkirk in the second game, 5 to 3.

Yankees Bunch Long Hits.

Sturm's homer scoring Frank Crosetti ahead of him, followed by Red Rolfe's single and Selkirk's homer, won the second battle for the Yankees in the eighth. After Ken Keltner's first inning homer, New York had tied the score in the fifth when Joe Gordon doubled Tommy Henrich in.

The Tribe's ninth inning rally opened with Keltner's double and Jeff Heath's triple, making it necessary for Marv Breuer to replace Gomez. One more run came in as Heath scored after Gerry Walker's fly, but the threat ended with Ray Mack hitting into a double play.

Gomez yielded only six hits, walked none and threw one wild pitch. Mel Harder, who was relieved by Clint Brown in the ninth, was the loser.

Ruffing Scatters Hits.

In the first contest, Ruffing yielded eight safe blows but kept them well scattered. Only in the sixth did the Indians get a pair of hits, when Roy Weatherly and Walker singled, but one of the Yankees' three double plays squelched the Indians.

RALLY TO BEAT SENATORS, 4-3, IN 11TH INNING

Give Away First Game, 3 to 2.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The White Sox leaped forth yesterday and stole the American league lead from the Cleveland Indians by the margin of five ten thousandths of a point. To reach the pinnacle, the Sox, after graciously presenting Washington's Senators with a 3 to 2 victory in the first game of a double header, noted on the scoreboard that the Yanks had whipped the faltering Tribe twice. So they bore down to get themselves back into a fight which they won in 11 innings, 4 to 3.

The second game was a dazzling affair that kept 21,654 spectators glued to their seats despite any discontent over what had happened in the first contest. In that first contest a big hearted Sox outfit, which two weeks ago started the Senators on a 12 game losing streak, called off the whole thing with a ceremony in which Luke Appling handed out all the enemy runs.

Chase's Defense Collapses.

The second game brought back into the spotlight, among others, Eddie [Lefty] Smith, who after a shaky start, went about his business and turned out eight runless innings. Opposing him was Ken Chase, also left handed. Chase proved good enough to carry thru seven innings with a 3 to 1 edge. The Sox got him in the eighth, however. Myril Hoag, after a tough afternoon in which his drives were grabbed by one fellow or another, exploded a double to drive in the tying runs. Then the battle went on until the Senator defense, which had been dazzling, cracked in the eleventh.

The Sox collected their winning run without a hit. For the eleventh inning starter, Mike Tresh walked. Smith helped to promote his fifth victory of the season by bunting Tresh to second. Don Kolloway, who replaced Bill Knickerbocker in the first game when the latter developed a back complaint, grounded out. Appling then was deemed too dangerous and was passed. Next, Joe Kuhel aimed a hopper at Jimmy Bloodworth, but the ball squirmed thru Jimmy's hands and Tresh waltzed in with the winning run.

Appling Has Trouble.

Appling's misdeeds in the first game were linked with other mishaps, all in the second inning. Luke fumbled a roller that should have retired the enemy runless, after John Rigney had filled the bases on two passes and his own failure to cover first on a batted ball picked up by Kolloway. One run blossomed from Appling's fumble. An instant later Appling just reached instead of jumping for a lazy liner. It landed in his glove, but popped out for a hit, two more scoring. Both the hits in this session were phoney. In fact, the Senators, who held a three run lead until the Sox hopped on Sid Hudson in the ninth, didn't get their legitimate safety until the last inning to whip Rigney despite a three hit performance.

FIRST GAME

BEAUTY OF RACE TRACKS CREDITED TO TOM YOUNG

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Take a landscape architect with the ability of Tom Young, combine his talents with those of Matt J. Winn and the result is one of the best track superintendents in the country. Tom is personally responsible for making Lincoln Fields and Churchill Downs both picturesque and practical.

Thirty years ago Tom arrived in Louisville. He had come from Buffalo to landscape the grounds surrounding some of the fine homes along the river road. He did such a good job of it that Matt Winn, director of Churchill Downs, became interested in him.

At that time nobody in that part of the country was thinking about turning race tracks into parklike places. People went to tracks to bet and watch the horses run—and it hadn't occurred to any one that it would be a lot more fun if this were done in beautiful surroundings.

Tom Fills the Bill.

Then Tom Young, the landscape architect, went into conference with Matt Winn and he came out Tom Young, the track superintendent. His knowledge of various soils was what Winn wanted for putting the care of the running strip on a scientific basis and his ability at landscaping was just the thing for dressing up the racing plant.

Those tulips which come into bloom just in time for Derby day at Churchill Downs are accurately timed and carefully tended by Young and his crew. Many think that they are rushed in from some hot house and set in the ground a few days before the Derby—but that's not so. Up until this year, the bulbs were imported from Holland and were set out in November. The war cut off the imports and it was necessary to use a domestic variety this time. They looked mighty nice, tho, every one agreed.

Use World's Fair Vases.

Those three handsome vases which are set around the pool in front of the clubhouse at Lincoln Fields stood at the entrance to the world's fair of 1893. The American Turf association, which operates Lincoln Fields and Churchill Downs, obtained them and Tom dressed them up with red and yellow flowers banked with small green palms.

Race fans who settle back in their seats after winning a good bet; are particularly appreciative of the infield at Lincoln Fields. In the mellow mood which follows the cashing of a wager, they'll agree that those gracefully curving lagoons and bright splashes of flower beds, those brilliantly green lawns and those dignified groves of trees, make a mighty pretty picture.

Lockwood Pirie Sails Twin Star to Victory

Lockwood Pirie sailed his Star class sloop Twin Star to victory over his brother's boat, the Gemini, and a dozen other Sheridan Shore Yacht club Stars yesterday in the club's second Sunday race of the season. A variable northeast wind prevailed on the course off Wilmette harbor. The club flagship, Commodore John T. Pirie II.'s Gemini, was runner-up, followed by the Bingham-Clay-Floyd syndicate's entry, Glider, and Harold H. Elliott's sloop Carol.

MARTIN SEEKS 2D VICTORY IN DRIVE TO MEET ZALE

Battles McBride Tonight on Marigold Card.

Tony [Cianciola] Martin, Wisconsin state middleweight champion, will meet Frank McBride, former Chicago sectional Golden Gloves 160 pound winner, in an eight round bout tonight in Marigold outdoor arena, Broadway and Grace street.

Martin will be in quest of his second victory in a new campaign for another chance at Tony Zale's world title. Martin, who recently scored a three round knockout over Dick Demaray in Minneapolis, gave Zale's backers some anxious moments in an overweight contest in Milwaukee on Jan. 1, before being forced to surrender in the eighth round because of a cut eye.

McBride Wins Over Berry.

McBride is not a world beater, but he is good enough to make things interesting for Martin as long as the match lasts. McBride conquered Bob Berry of Cleveland in the Marigold arena on March 31.

Harvey Dubs, Windsor, Ont., junior welterweight who redeemed himself after a knockout by Floyd Hagen by scoring a 10 round triumph over Tony Petroskey two weeks ago, is paired with Jess Ackerman, Des Moines slugger. Buddy Rose, Sarasota, Fla., middleweight, will make his Chicago debut in an eight round event against Speedy Schaefer.

Pintero Meets Grod.

Matches of four rounds bring together Frank Pintero, Milwaukee lightweight, and Mickey Grod, and Johnny Balmer, Peoria welterweight, and Al Jackson.

Bronko Nagurski, former Chicago Bears full back, is matched with Fritz Von Schacht in the wrestling headliner in White City, 63d street and South Park avenue, this evening. Other matches involve Seeli Samara and Ed Virag, Charley [Gorilla] Grubmyer and Joe Millich, Pete Schu and Rudy Kay, and Bill Canny and Don McIntyre. . . . Ernie Nordman, former Omaha district Golden Gloves heavyweight title holder, is employed in a defense factory at 97th street and Cottage Grove avenue, it was learned from a friend yesterday. . . . Jack Haley, 1941 Chicagoland Golden Gloves featherweight champion, will make his fifth professional appearance in Omaha June 9 against an opponent yet to be selected. Haley has a record of three victories and one draw decision.

Spencer Coals Split Two Games with Clowns

The Spencer Coals semi-pro baseball team split a double header with the Ethiopian Clowns in Spencer field yesterday. The Clowns won the first game, 4 to 2, in 10 innings, and the Coals took the second, 4 to 3.

THE INVISIBLE GLOVE

RUB ON this greaseless cream before you start work. It prevents grime and paint adhering to your skin. Afterwards merely wash your hands in running water. This dissolves the protective film and carries away the grime with it. Sold at hardware and auto accessory stores.

SAYLOR, HURT IN AUTO RACE, GAINS SLIGHTLY

Indianapolis, Ind., June 1 (AP).—Everett Saylor, 30 years old, of Dayton, O., who was injured seriously in Friday's 500 mile automobile race, today was reported as slightly improved.

Saylor, making his first appearance in an Indianapolis race, crashed thru the fence at the northwest turn and suffered critical injuries about the head. Yesterday he received a blood transfusion from Floyd Davis of Springfield, Ill., who, along with Mauri Rose of Indianapolis, was a co-winner of the race.

Wilbur Shaw of Indianapolis, a three time winner of the speed classic, who crashed while leading the race, was reported in a good condition. He suffered a back injury.

The third driver in the hospital—Sam Hanks of Alhambra, Cal.—was said today to be in a fairly good shape. Hanks wrecked his car the evening before the race while making a practice spin.

JEWISH SOCCER STARS WIN, 4-3, FROM SWEDES

Winners Get 3 Goals in Rally Before 7,000.

BY OFFSIDE.

The Jewish All-Stars defeated the Swedish All-Stars yesterday, 4 to 3, in the Winnemac park stadium in the Mayor Kelly Cup finals to win the trophy for the first time. Ideal weather attracted a record crowd of 7,000.

It looked like a scoreless period until the 41st minute when Ture Halquist drove into the net from three yards to give the Swedes a 1 to 0 lead as the half ended.

The Jewish team tied it up after eight minutes of the second period, Max Greuner shooting past Sandy Kellin from 15 yards. The Swedes went in front again five minutes later, Erick Johnson placing to Nels Dalquist to score from ten yards. The Swedes went further ahead as Dalquist placed well from a free kick to Erick Johnson who drove into the back of the net.

Jewish Team Rallies.

With only 12 minutes left to play the Jews put on a rally to score three goals. At the 37th minute Henry Kuhn shot with terrific force straight at Kellin, the Swedish goalkeeper, who failed to hold onto the ball as it crossed over the line. A minute later Kuhn slipped past the Swedish defense to tie the score. With only two minutes left to play Klaber cut in from the right and let go a cannon ball shot from twenty yards to score the winning goal.

The Swedes missed a last chance as Carl Arndt shot past from five yards.

DODGERS BEAT CARDINALS, TIE FOR LEAGUE LEAD

Higbe Shades Lanier in 3 to 2 Battle.

Brooklyn, N. Y., June 1 (AP).—The Dodgers climbed into a first place tie in the National league today by nosing out the St. Louis Cardinals, 3 to 2. After losing six straight, Brooklyn launched a winning string which was extended to nine with today's victory.

The Brooklyns collected only four singles off Max Lanier, but one of these and an error brought a run in the first inning and two more, hooked up with a walk and a balk, produced the deciding tallies in the third.

Meantime, the Cards tagged Kirby Higbe for seven hits, but except for the fifth inning, they were unable to do anything with runners on base. As a result, they went down to their third straight setback.

Make 21,345 Happy.

The Dodgers took advantage of every scoring opportunity to the enjoyment of 21,345 customers. Billy Herman was the only Dodger to get two hits, and only one of these figured in the scoring. His first inning single followed a walk by Peewee Reese and was in turn followed by an error by Gus Mancuso, which permitted the shortstop to score. This fumble came when the Cards' catcher dropped the throw-in on Pete Reiser's fly as Reese came in from third after the catch.

Two were out in the third when the Dodgers clinched the game. Herman walked, Reiser singled, and both advanced on Lanier's balk. They scored on Cookie Lavagetto's hit.

Crespi Fails in Pinch.

The Cards filled the bases in both the first and third innings, but each time Frank Crespi bounced into a third out, and it wasn't until the fifth that they appeared as if they knew how to make runs at all. In this session, a double by Johnny Hopp, a pass to Terry Moore, and singles by Don Padgett and Enos Slaughter scored the Cardinal tallies. After that Higbe gave up only one hit.

CHICAGOAN WINS CENTRAL STATES SKEET HONORS

William Clark, representing the Northwest Gun club of Chicago, yesterday won the Central States Skeet Shooting tournament on the Northwest range in a shoot-off with five other contestants. Clark, Illinois state champion in 1939, had a high over all score of 291 to take the all-bore championship.

The others in the shoot-off were Don Sperry of Flint, Mich.; J. R. Anderson, 1940 Illinois state champion from Chicago; E. R. Batten of the Lincoln Park Gun club; C. Winterowd of Lincoln Park, and E. O. Sessions of Northwest.

The Northwest pair of James R. Anderson and William Clark tied the world's record for two man team shooting with a perfect score of 200-200. It was said to be the second time in skeet history that a perfect record has been made in the two man event.

Four hundred marksmen, the largest entry list in a skeet tournament in Illinois, competed in the three day meet which ended with yesterday's competition.

Red Sox Win Both Games from Tigers

Detroit, Mich., June 1 (AP).—Manager Joe Cronin and his Boston Red Sox squared the season's accounts at four victories each with the Detroit Tigers today by taking a pair of close games, 7 to 6 and 6 to 5.

In the opener Dominic DiMaggio doubled in the eighth with the score 6-all to send home Pinch-Hitter Frankie Pytlak, who had singled. Jimmy Foxx hit his sixth home run in the sixth with one on. Mike Ryba, who replaced Lefty Grove in the seventh, was the winning pitcher.

Ted Williams hit a home run in the sixth of the second game and Rudy York of the Tigers got his No. 13 in the fourth. Scores:

ATHLETICS WIN TWO.

St. Louis, Mo., June 1 (AP).—Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics climbed to within two percentage points of the first division today with a double victory, 5 to 2 and 5 to 3, over the St. Louis Browns.

The A's took the opener after scoring three times in the third inning off young Bob Muncrief, but were forced to fight for the second victory with a 3 run rally in the ninth.

Not one of the four starting pitchers was able to finish, but Bump Hadley, who went out of the opener in the eighth, was credited with his third victory against two setbacks. Scores:

Baseball's Men in Blue

EDDIE ROMMEL was one of the better pitchers of all time. . . . Also one of the many major leaguers dug up by Connie Mack. . . . Served a long stretch with the Athletics. . . . One of the real developers of the knuckle ball, now used by many. . . . Was a Mackman in the years when the team seldom wandered far from the cellar door. . . . Despite his weak surroundings, Rommel won 27 games one season. . . . After his pitching days were done, Mack placed his faded star in minor league managerial posts. . . . Then Ed was advised to take up umpiring. . . . First job was in the Eastern league. . . . After three seasons, during which he was coached periodically by Tommy Connolly, the American's umpire overseer, Rommel was promoted to the Harridge circuit in 1938. . . . Altho of limited experience, he has managed to dodge serious jams, indicating he will be a finished workman in another season or two.

Note to Cubs: Age Improves Lon Warneke

St. Louis, Mo., June 1 (AP).—Lean Lon Warneke, back up there at the top of the Nationalleague pitchers, is the season's example of why that circuit's club owners hang up the "out to lunch" sign when Branch Rickey pays a visit.

Lon Warneke.

Rickey, the St. Louis Cardinals' David Harum, talked the Chicago Cubs out of Warneke a couple of weeks after the 1936 season—and the short staffed Chicago club has missed him ever since.

Of the two men the Cardinals traded for him, Rip Collins picks up splinters on Pittsburgh's bench after a stretch on the Pacific coast and Bud Parmelee picks up minor league change in Milwaukee.

Trades Long for Cards.

Rickey has pulled concealing wool over rival owners' eyes many times in shrewd trades that turned out long for the Cardinals, short for the opposition. Few deals have resulted more happily for the Redbirds than the Collins-and-Parmelee-for-Warneke swap.

Warneke moved into his 12th National league season this spring with a lifetime percentage of .627—bettered only by Carl Hubbell's .631 in the senior circuit. Star tho he was for the Cubs, he is pitching better ball for the Cardinals.

Rickey marshalled his first place Cardinals together for a civic club banquet the other noon. When he got up for the featured speech he mussed his already tousled hair, peered over his horn rimmed spectacles at the veteran right hander and ventured:

"This'll probably cost me money, but I'd like to tell you about Lon Warneke."

Lon Wins Important Ones.

The Cards' general manager painted a pretty picture of Warneke's pitching prowess, his cunning, his team spirit, and that ability to win important contests—best exemplified by the game he won from the Cardinals just before they got him from Chicago.

It was the final game of the 1936 season. New York's Giants prepared to butt their heads futilely against the crosstown Yankees in the world series. The second place Redbirds held a one game lead over the Cubs, their opponents in the season's windup.

Victory that September afternoon meant the difference between second and third place money. So Frankie Frisch picked Dizzy Dean, winner of 24 games, to start for the Cardinals. The slump-haltered Warneke pitched for Chicago and beat St. Louis, 6 to 3.

His Worst Big League Season.

However, that was Warneke's worst major league season. The year before he'd won Chicago's two games from Detroit in the world series, then suffered an arm injury.

Except for 1938 and a brief stretch the next season when he dished up a fat home run ball, the hummingbird has sung a sweet tune for the Cardinals.

Gives 'Em That Slow Curve.

"One morning I told myself, 'Lon, you're no kid any longer. You can't stand out there and throw that fast ball past those hitters—and you haven't.' So I started giving 'em more of that slow curve."

It worked. Mixing his stuff and peeling the corners of the plate, Warneke's been better than ever this year.

TVA REVERSES POLICY; TRIES TO SAVE POWER

Aluminum Output Is Threatened.

Knoxville, Tenn., June 1 [Special]. —The Tennessee Valley authority, President Roosevelt's yardstick with which he set out to prove to the nation that there was an abundance of cheap electric power, today had reversed its policy. It had become the yardstick whereby power consumers in the southeast, and possibly in the nation, are to be shown how they can save electric power for the benefit of armament production.

J. A. Krug of TVA seeks uniform conservation program.

Formal reversal of TVA's policy took shape over the week-end in the opening of a series of conferences with municipal and coöperative retail outlets for TVA power thruout the Tennessee valley to devise a uniform plan for conserving nonindustrial uses.

Aid to Aluminum Production.

The effort is being made so that production of aluminum, vital to the arms program, may be continued in the face of a dwindling power supply, due to depleted water reservoirs' and heavy demand for industrial power.

In this connection J. A. Krug, chief of TVA's power division, said that the objective, "is to work out a uniform program so that one city or coöperative doesn't ask its retail customers to do more than any other city coöp."

A principal point in TVA's program is a recommendation that the entire area be placed on daylight saving time. This proposal replaces one originally made by Director David E. Lilienthal that eastern and middle Tennessee be placed in the eastern time belt. That proposal, made in a broadcast speech last Tuesday, met with instant disapproval over a large area which is basically rural.

Modifies Time Proposal.

In face of resistance he modified his proposal to daylight saving time during the summer months. TVA, in the meantime, had discovered that a permanent change to eastern time would result in increased use of power during the winter months.

Statistics compiled by TVA indicate that use of daylight saving in the area would give the aluminum industry, principally the Aluminum Company of America and the Reynolds Metals company, enough added power to manufacture aluminum for 80 standard bombers in a month.

The Knoxville Power and Water board, in issuing an appeal to consumers to curtail use of power, estimated that this city alone could release enough power in the next 12 months to produce aluminum for 45 warplanes.

Water Supply Dwindles.

While TVA is devising methods of saving power and preparing to build more dams for more power in the future, the water supply in the southeast continues to dwindle. Aluminum company officials refuse to make any statements as to the condition of their own private power supply from a system of hydro-electric dams in North Carolina, but it has been learned that maximum use of that source has depleted the water supply to a point where this may shortly give out.

This private supply is said to be more than a third of the power required to operate the company's Alcoa plant.

CALLS POWER PARLEYS

Washington, D. C., June 1 (AP).—Chairman Leland Olds of the Federal Power commission announced tonight he would meet the nation's electric utility officials in a series of special conferences beginning at Atlanta Wednesday, to determine methods of insuring delivery of power to armament industries. Olds said that he could not overemphasize "the gravity of the present power situation."

The expanding defense industries, he explained, were "calling for large deliveries of power at an earlier date in most areas than the utilities expected."

He will hold a Chicago conference June 6 at the Palmer House, for Illinois, Kentucky, Indiana, West Virginia, Ohio, Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa, and parts of Pennsylvania, Virginia, Maryland, Minnesota, and Missouri.

Farmers Vote About 80% for Wheat Control

Washington, D. C., June 1 (AP).—The agriculture department received authority today to tell farmers how much wheat they can sell or feed this year and to collect a penalty of 48 cents a bushel against benefits from those who do not comply.

The use of rigid marketing quotas to keep surplus production off the market until it is needed was approved by substantially more than the necessary two-thirds majority of producers voting in a country-wide poll Saturday. Nearly complete returns from the 37 principal wheat producing states gave 392,611 votes for and 95,354 against the marketing control proposal. This was a favorable majority of 80.3 per cent.

Crop Loans Assured.

As a consequence, growers were assured of a government crop loan for wheat at 85 per cent of parity, or about 87 cents a bushel, compared with last year's loan rate of 56 per cent of parity, or about 72 cents. Legislation recently approved authorized the higher loan in the event quotas were approved.

[Parity is farm purchasing power in the period 1909-'14.]

This was the first time wheat farmers had been asked to approve quotas. Producers of cotton and tobacco had authorized use of the control program on this year's crops in referendums held last winter.

Commenting on the results of Saturday's poll, Secretary of Agriculture Claude Wickard said wheat growers had met "the challenge of the present [wheat surplus] emergency."

Face Big Surplus.

"By their own decision they have shouldered the responsibility for doing their part to keep the nation strong," he said, "Hemmed in by economic and war blockade, they face a surplus that, uncontroled, could undermine an important economic structure."

Under the quota system farmers have been given an acreage allotment and can sell or feed 1941 wheat grown on this acreage without penalty. They also can sell or feed any wheat from previous crops. Grain produced this year on excess acreages will be subject to a penalty tax of half the government wheat loan rate unless stored under bond or delivered to the government for relief use.

ILLINOIS' ARMS CONTRACTS ARE MUCH SMALLER

The total of armament orders placed with companies in the Chicago industrial area and all of Illinois dropped last week to $2,846,114, from $7,379,768 in the preceding week, the Illinois Manufacturers association reported yesterday. The contracts were:

Start Canning Industry Wage Act Compliance Drive

Washington, D. C., June 1 (AP).—The wage-hour administration announced today that 400 inspectors would begin a drive tomorrow for compliance with the wage-hour law in the canning industry. Administrator Philip B. Fleming said the inspectors would start in the south and work northward.

May Production of Meat 5 to 10 Pct. Above Year Ago

The American Meat institute estimated yesterday that production of meat in the United States in May was 5 to 10 per cent larger, than in May, 1940. The demand for meat expanded, the institute said.

Dated May 23, 1941.

CEILING PRICES ARE PLACED ON SCRAP NICKEL

Washington, D. C., June 1 [Special].—Ceiling prices for scrap and secondary materials containing nickel were announced by Price Administrator Leon Henderson today. He said this, the eighth maximum price schedule issued by the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply, had been rendered necessary by the "outrageous prices" which had recently been charged for materials containing nickel. These prices, said Henderson, had sometimes been twice or three times as high as that for virgin nickel.

Henderson said the new schedule "represents another step in the general program of OPACS to bring prices of scrap into line with prices of equivalent primary metals."

BIG BANK DOUBTS EFFECTIVENESS OF PRICE FIXING

New York, June 1 [Special].—The National City bank in its monthly business letter today expressed doubt that federal price fixing measures will be effective.

The bank said that the new federal legislation under which the Commodity Credit corporation will offer higher loans to growers of five basic farm crops will add to the inflationary influence, "increase the cost of living, and tend to frustrate the effort to keep other prices down."

"In the long run, efforts of certain groups to strengthen their position against other groups by legislative enactment must be futile, but they are costly while they last," the review said.

DAY by DAY on the FARM by BOB BECKER

Clamor in Sheep Barn.

June 1, 1941.

THE peaceful little barn swallows which nest in the big sheep barn must have chided themselves about their ability to pick a nesting site the other morning when the Southdown ewes and lambs were making so much racket. Ordinarily these little swallows like a calm atmosphere, and the barn was anything but quiet, for the sheep were being tagged and treated for worms.

The farm workers formed a sort of assembly line to get this job done. The whole flock was confined in several pens in the barn, and the men did their clerical and veterinary work near the door which leads to the barnyard. Two of the workers had the job of catching and holding the ewes and lambs, one placed small numbered metal tags in the lambs' ears, another doled out a liquid worm medicine to each of the young ones, and still another kept a record of the sheep which were being treated. As each member of the flock finished its trip down the assembly line, it was pushed out of the barn.

They Want Their Mamas.

The loud complaining came from the lambs which were separated from their ewes. Some got thru the assembly line ahead of their mothers and bawled loudly outside the door to get in. Some were still in the barn after their ewes had gone down the line and bawled to get out.

While the sheep were making the rafters resound we went to visit the female barn swallow which now is incubating her eggs in the mud nest which she built on one of the rafters. She had put up with the sheep and lamb commotion for about an hour without leaving her nest.

One of the Karakul lambs will have to get a beauty treatment if it wants to keep a beautiful wave in its coat. The animal that is losing its attractive appearance is the oldest and largest of the four lambs.

Wool Is Straightening.

Its tightly curled wool is beginning to straighten and a part is developing in its hair at the base of the neck between the shoulders. Gradually this neat little division will stretch the length of its back, and all along it the hair will be transformed from the kinky stage which the women recognize as Persian lamb into straight, coarse wool.

Only one lamb so far has begun to lose its wavy coat, which it has had for about 14 weeks. Gradually the others will lose their Persian lamb coats and begin to look more and more like their grown ewes which have straight, coarse wool.

STRIVE TO END WIDE TRUCKING TIEUP IN EAST

13 Industrial States Are Affected.

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 1 (AP).—The United States government sought today by conciliation efforts to end swiftly a strike of 2,200 freight truck drivers and helpers which may cripple the movement of vital armament materials and other freight in 13 eastern industrial states.

The threat to freight movement in Pennsylvania and surrounding states originated in a strike call issued here at midnight Saturday by local 249 of the General Teamsters union [AFL] after negotiations with 179 Pittsburgh district hauling concerns broke down.

The union and companies hardly had broken off negotiations when John A. Moffitt, United States labor department conciliator, met with union delegates and a company committee. They adjourned after a five hour session, until tomorrow.

Ask 10 Cent Hourly Pay Boost.

In seeking a new contract to replace a document which expired May 13, the union asked a basic 10 cent hourly wage increase to the current 85 cent hourly scale, paid vacations, and maintenance of a 48 hour work week. The company originally offered a 54 hour week, claiming a shortage of drivers for long distance hauls made a shorter week impossible.

Joseph Kenny Jr., chairman of the employers' committee, said the wage increase would add $1,000,000 yearly to operating expenses and was "beyond our ability to pay."

From union and company sources it was reported the strike would imperil shipments including munitions, glass, electrical and chemical materials, and steel of various types used in armament manufacture. This would be accomplished, the union said, by affecting movements at railroad terminals, factories, and warehouses.

Expect Warehouse Strike.

San Francisco, Cal., June 1 (AP).—CIO warehousemen, numbering 4,500 will strike at San Francisco bay area warehouses at 8 a. m. tomorrow unless operators agree to increase the wages of women workers 10 cents an hour. Spokesmen for both sides said there was little likelihood the walkout would be averted.

"The union rejected our best offer," said James P. Blaisdell, president of the Association of San Francisco distributors.

Negotiations between the Bethlehem Shipbuilding company and the Bay Cities Metal Trades council will be resumed tomorrow in an effort to settle one of the disputes which led to a CIO-AFL machinists' strike against 11 shipyards and repair shops.

Offer to Arbitrate.

Seattle, Wash., June 1 (AP).—CIO boommen at Tacoma offered to arbitrate differences with employers today in the first break in strikes which have affected nearly 20,000 men in the Pacific northwest lumber industry.

The boommen, on strike for two weeks, offered to submit three of their five demands to arbitration. They voted to return to work if employers would grant a 7½ cent hourly wage increase, bringing the minimum for an eight hour day to $8.15, retroactive to April 1.

PORTUGAL'S WINE TRADE WITH U. S. GAINS TENFOLD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LISBON, Portugal, June 1.—Portuguese exports of port wine to the United States have increased almost tenfold since the war in Europe began, it was announced here today by the Oporto Wine institution. From Dec. 31, 1940, thru April, 1941, American imports of Portuguese ports were 278,580 gallons, compared with 29,732 gallons imported in the same period of the previous year.

In April alone of this year American imports were 202,052 gallons as against 15,096 gallons imported in April, 1940. Great Britain's wine purchases still are considerable despite the war.

Total of Workers Increases to Peak Above 50 Millions

New York, June 1 (AP).—More people in the United States were working in April than ever before in the nation's history, the National Industrial Conference board estimated today. It set the total number of jobholders at 50,150,000.

During April unemployment dropped 705,000 to 5,412,000, or the lowest for any April since 1930, the private research organization said. The April increase in jobs cut the board's estimate of jobless 3,526,000 below the figure for April, 1940. Allowing for 2,271,000 persons in government emergency labor, the board said that out of the nation's 55,500,000 workers only 3,141,000 weren't working.

Service Industry Gains.

Service industry hiring, against the usual seasonal trend, increased 222,000 persons, the report showed. Additions to military branches accounted for 189,000 of this rise.

Other industries who hired more new workers than usual were listed as trade, distribution, and finance, 228,000; manufacturing, 148,000; transportation, 30,000, and public utilities, 12,000. The report attributed to seasonal increases a rise of 390,000 in agricultural employment.

Mining was the only general group which showed fewer men working than in April, 1940. The board said mine employment dropped, because of the stoppage in bituminous coal fields, to 459,000, a decrease from last year of 311,000 to the lowest on record and 40 per cent below March of this year.

Factories Have Big Upturn.

Manufacturing employés rose to 12,103,000 in April this year from 10,476,000 in the same month last year.

The report explained that a disparity between the month's employment increase of 752,000 and the unemployment decrease of 705,000 was due to additions to the labor force, and said that since mid-1937 about 2,500,000 new workers have become available.

STEEL SHEETS.

I would like a review of American Rolling Mill's operations and its capital setup.—F. T.

Answer: Having introduced the revolutionary continuous method of rolling sheets, strip, and plate in 1928, the American Rolling Mill company, Middletown, O., had an early advantage in this branch of the steel industry. It owns the basic patents under which most of the continuous rolling mills in the industry operate.

The company is the third largest producer of steel sheets, being preceded by United States Steel and Republic Steel corporations. The automobile industry takes about one-fourth of the American Rolling Mill output. Other consumers are farm machinery, electrical equipment, household appliance, and office furniture makers, as well as jobbers.

The spirited demand for the company's steel products as a result of the armament program has caused the management to predict that tonnage output this year will be at a record peak. However, profit margins will be influenced adversely by a 4 million dollar increase in wage costs because of the recent 10 per cent pay rise, by higher material costs, and by increased taxes.

Net income this year registered a sharp increase in the first quarter, rising to $3,599,241, equal after preferred dividends to $1.08 a common share. This compared with $1,005,194, or 17 cents a common share, in the corresponding period of 1940. Earnings results in the last five years follow:

	Net income.	Earned per com.	Divi'nds per com.
1936	$6,441,677	$2.26	$1.95
1937	8,231,335	2.55	2.00
1938	*1,307,880	*1.16	....
1939	4,011,909	0.69	....

*Loss.

Dividends on the common stock were paid from 1917 thru 1931, from 1935 thru 1937 and were resumed last year. This year a common dividend of 35 cents was paid April 5 and another will be paid June 14 to holders of record May 14. Regular dividends are being paid on the preferred stock.

The company has outstanding 450,000 shares of 4½ per cent cumulative preferred stock of $100 par value, 2,869,560 shares of $25 par common stock, and funded debt of $9,500,000.

PUMICE.

Who owns the Pumice Corporation of America?—H. F.

Answer: The company is owned jointly by the McAleer Manufacturing company, Detroit, and Whittaker, Clark & Daniels, Inc., New York City.

CHICAGO TO GET DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE UNIT

Establishment in Chicago of one of twelve regional offices of the department of commerce was announced yesterday by Secretary Jesse H. Jones. Jones explained that the Chicago regional office will be a miniature department of commerce serving the federal reserve district for which Chicago is the key city.

George C. Payne, who has been in charge of the department's Chicago office, will be the manager of the regional office which will represent both the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce and the bureau of the census. Payne said that members of the old staff would remain and new members will be taken on to take care of the increased activity.

One of the first of the new men will be a regional business consultant, Payne said. He will report for duty after taking a training course in Washington. Among his duties will be the transmission to Chicago business men of the latest information from Washington concerning business operations under the present disturbed world conditions.

SHIP LESS ANTHRACITE.

The Anthracite institute reported shipments of hard coal in April totaled 2,674,169 net tons compared with 3,856,734 in March and 3,144,127 in April, 1940.

HALL PRINTING'S BUSINESS AND PROFIT LARGER

Improves Facilities During Year.

Business and earnings of W. F. Hall Printing company increased in the year ended March 31, and the company entered the new year with "good prospects," Alfred B. Geiger, president, told stockholders yesterday in his annual report.

Alfred B. Geiger.

"Since business in general is going thru a period of abnormal activity because of the armament program, our company likewise has felt the effects of such operations," Geiger said.

Plan for New Equipment.

Reporting that the company spent $345,000 for additions to plant and equipment during the year, he added:

"The policy has been to maintain adequate facilities to meet the increased demands for its products, and expenditures have been authorized for new machinery, equipment and the overhauling of present facilities where necessary.

"The company entered upon the new year with good prospects for increased business. Nevertheless we are taking into consideration that the present situation is one of emergency and all possible precautions are being taken to guard against a slackening of business which must necessarily follow this emergency."

Year's Profit Larger.

Profit for the year ended March 31 was $1,288,211, equal to $3.32 a share, compared with $1,219,058, or $3.13 a share, in the preceding fiscal year.

El Paso Natural Gas company and subsidiaries reported a balance for common stock and surplus, after all charges, including taxes, amounting to $190,254 for April.

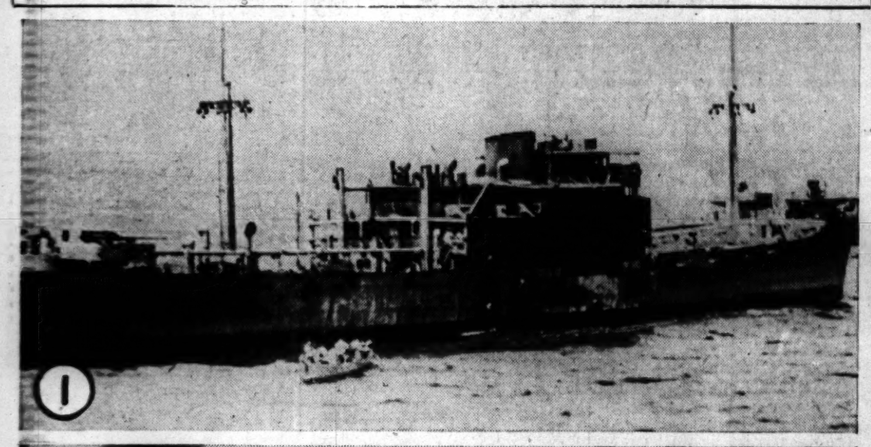
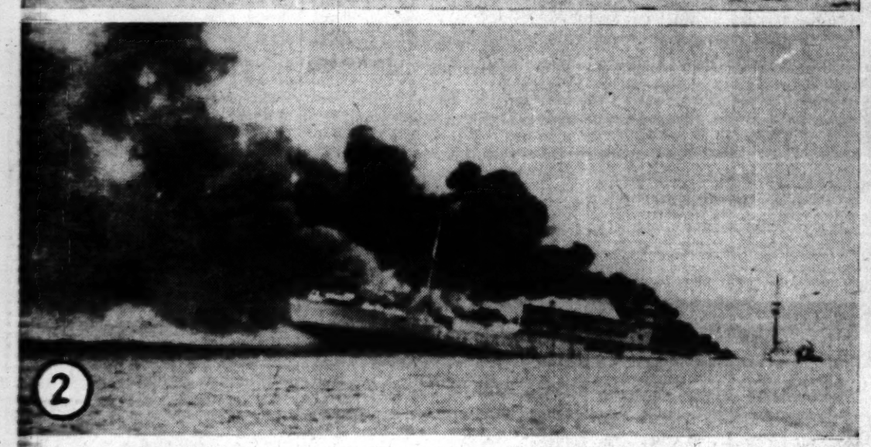
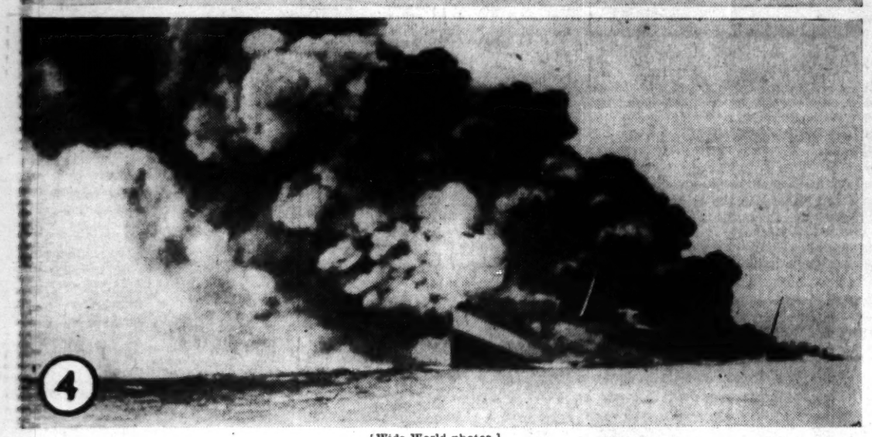
A Sea Raider Goes to Its Doom







[Wide World photos.]
Picture story of the sinking of fast Italian sea raider, Ramb I., recently in the Indian ocean, by the cruiser Leander, operating with New Zealand naval forces. 1. Last of raider's crew goes over side after mortal wound in ship's forward hold. 2. There is an explosion aft, and smoke pours from the ship. 3. Raider is enveloped in flames as she heads for bottom. 4. Ship plunges beneath surface, leaving trail of smoke. Action took 50 minutes. Eleven officers and 89 men were rescued.
